Ike Urges Congress To Fight Red Threat By Living Within His $77-Billion Budget

1st Woman To Seek Post

Mrs. Burton Will Enter Mayor Race To Oppose Strong

Marion's mayoralty race picked up impetus today with the appearance of a surprise Republican candidate assuring a contest for mayor for both political parties at the May 5 primary.

Mrs. Georgia Cooper Burton, 36, of 179 Stark Ct. today became the first woman in Marion's history to seek the office of mayor. She took out papers for Republican nomination late this morning at the board of elections office.

She is the wife of Marion E. Burton, Marion advertising executive, and sought political office once before, running for councilman-at-large in the Republican primary in 1957.

REPUBLICAN Mayor Wendell L. Strong filed his candidacy petitions Thursday afternoon to begin his bid for a second term. Also filing Thursday was City Auditor Elmer Shaw, who is seeking Republican nomination for a sixth consecutive term.

Democrats in the mayoralty race are R. Guy Bigelow, 47-year-old former safety-service director, who has filed for Democratic nomination as mayor, and Karl D. Dune, 57, president of Merchants Transfer and Storage Co., who took out papers for the Democratic nomination yesterday.

Earlier this morning, Curtis H. Porter, 52, of 215 Summit St. took out papers for nomination as Republican Sixth Ward councilman.

IN A STATEMENT issued on taking out her petitions, Mrs. Burton promised to wage a vigorous campaign based on a 20 point platform of "Progress for Marion."

"The city of Marion is sick," Mrs. Burton said. "Every official and citizen has an obligation to help bring it back to good health. Immediate solutions must be found for a number of critical problems including: traffic, annexation, zoning, sewers and recreation. Our community needs a master plan to chart a sensible and efficient course of action considering the factors of cost, timing, priority and long-range growth."

"Our city has lost many years of valuable time and progress due to indecision, confusion, political expediency and special interest pressures. If Marion is to become a good community in which to live, work and rear our children, we must get busy and provide the necessary facilities and services. We must all face up to the need for additional taxes to finance our community requirements," she declared.

"The Marion area also needs additional industries to provide growth, full employment and a balanced community economy. To attract new industries, Marion must have sufficient housing, intelligent zoning, good recreational facilities, excellent schools, free flow of traffic, efficient fire and police protection, adequate medical facilities and a pleasant, clean environment.

Seeks Renomination as Mayor

"TO REACH these objectives, the elected officials of Marion must lead the way by introducing a planned program, and Marion citizens must be informed of the steps required. Marion needs bold, imaginative leadership and courageous citizens to back it up. Only then, can we hope to move for-

Mikoyan Hits At Mistrust, Urges Peace

Soviet Deputy Holds Conference Prior To Leaving for Chicago

DETROIT (AP) — "A salesman sometimes names a higher price than he expects to get for his goods," Soviet Dep. Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan said today regarding the Soviet proposal that all troops be pulled out of Berlin.

But, he told newsmen in Detroit, the U.S.S.R. regards its proposals for a settlement of the Berlin problem as "good and reasonable."

Asked if he would propose an East-West compromise on withdrawal of troops, Mikoyan declared: "We already regard our proposal as a compromise. We don't suggest that Western troops be withdrawn and replaced by other troops."

Mikoyan's comments came in response to reporters' questions on a Soviet proposal which would make West Berlin a demilitarized "free city."

Mikoyan, currently on a tour of U.S. cities, made a brief speech urging cooperation for an enduring peace and said there is a "great deal of mistrust between us and we cannot do away with it all at once."

His remarks today followed a session of blunt talk on war and peace Thursday night to a group of captains of American industry at one of the Midwest's most exclusive clubs.

Inside the Detroit Club Thursday night Mikoyan attended a private dinner given in his honor by Walker Cisler, president of the Detroit Edison Co., electric utility. Some 60 leaders of business and finance of this automotive capital of the world listened attentively to an appeal by Mikoyan for an end to the cold war and the beginning of a "hot" peace between the Soviet Union and the United States.

Outside the club, a crowd of some 300 screaming refugees from Hungary and other Iron Curtain countries disregarded President Eisenhower's plea for courtesy to the Soviet visitor and tossed eggs and snowballs in his direction. They hollered insults and paraded with a coffin and anti-Communist placards.

There can be no trust, moreover, as long as the basic principles of freedom and a free society are ignored by the tyrants and autocrats in the Kremlin.

County Hikes Rate of Pay for Land Purchase

Rates of compensation for land owners for damages in highway right-of-way and easement actions were increased Thursday by the county commissioners.

The commissioners increased to $3.50 and $4.50, respectively, the maximum rates per lineal rod for 5 and 10-foot wide strips. It was the second such rate increase voted by the commissioners in the last six weeks.

On Dec. 1, the commissioners increased by $1 the old rates of $2 and $3 per lineal rod, which had been established in May 1955.

Rates for all other rights-of-way and easements beyond 5 and 10-foot wide strips will be figured on the basis of $1 for each 82½ square feet, the commissioners said.

The commissioners said the new rates were granted in an effort to keep pace with higher land valuation and increased cost of replacing fences.

PRESIDENT ADDRESSES CONGRESS. President Eisenhower delivers his State of the Union message to a joint session of Congress in Washington. He predicted America will achieve all-time record prosperity in the coming 18 months. On the rostrum behind him are Vice President Nixon (left) and House Speaker Sam Rayburn. (UPI Telephoto)

Joint Session Gets Report on State of Union

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today challenged the heavily Democratic new Congress to meet the Communist threat by living within his 77-billion-dollar budget and working toward tax relief "in the foreseeable future."

In a State of the Union message outlining administration plans for building a better and stronger America in this space age of catastrophic war possibilities, the President said his formula is designed to preserve this nation's way of life.

Useless expenditures, he said, "might tend to undermine the economy and therefore the nation's safety."

His 5,000-word address, prepared for personal delivery at a joint session of the Senate and House, also set forth these other highlight proposals calling for:

1. Enactment of new civil rights legislation to be submitted to Congress soon. Without being specific about the legislation, the President deplored closing of some public schools in the integration controversy, and pledged anew he will take every action necessary to enforce the law as interpreted by the courts.

2. New laws aimed at wiping out "corruption, racketeering, and abuse of power and trust in labor-management affairs." Eisenhower expressed disappointment the last Congress, also Democratic-controlled, did not act in this field despite disclosures by the investigating committee headed by Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark).

3. Amendment of the 1946 full employment law "to make it clear that the government intends to use all appropriate means to protect the buying power of the dollar." The President did not specify just what he has in mind, but he again called on labor and business leaders to exercise statesmanship to curb the wage-price spiral. And he announced he will set up a Cabinet committee on price stability for economic growth.

4. Passage of new farm legislation designed to reduce heavy federal outlays in that field eventually, and to assure "greater freedom for markets to reflect the wishes of producers and consumers."

No Farm Details

As in the case of the others, Eisenhower went into no detail on the farm program. The specific provisions of all the programs will be set forth in a series of special messages to Congress in the next several weeks.

Eisenhower told Congress the nation's economy is strong and healthy, and that the 1958 business recession is fading into history.

"Personal income," he said, "is at an all-time high."

Eisenhower said, his military budget will advance "a sensible posture of defense," along with increased efficiency and avoidance of waste.

But, he added at another point, "The basic qusetion facing us today is nore than mere survival—the military defense of national life and territory. It is the preservation of a way of life."

Must Meet Challenge

"We must meet the world challenge and at the same time permit no stagnation in America," he said.

"Unless we progress, we regress."

He said spending will increase for health programs, federal aid for science and education, city redevelopment, and federal aid for highways.

He called also for continuation

Main Points Of Message

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here in outline are the main points of President Eisenhower's State of the Union message today:

Over-all objective: "To promote strength and security, side by side with liberty and opportunity."

Lines of approach:

1. Seek to prevent war at any place in any dimension by assuring strong armed forces without useless expenditures.

2. Maintain a strong and expanding economy, fighting inflation and providing better opportunities for Americans.

3. Pursue a foreign policy dedicated to building a permanent and just peace in a world community of strong, stable independent nations.

4. Strengthen individual freedoms by new legislation in the fields of civil rights and labor-management relations.

5. Work for the cause of freedom under law throughout the world.

Cubans Hail Rebel Leader Fidel Castro

Thousands Turn Out To Greet Triumphant Chieftain in Havana

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Cuba's capital started back to work today after a tumultuous welcome for Fidel Castro. The rebel leader warned his cheering supporters they must guard their victory against diehard followers of deposed President Fulgencio Batista.

Castro Wednesday night told a crowd of 30,000 at Camp Columbia, the army headquarters just outside Havana, that the next 5 to 15 years will tell whether the Cubans will profit from their victory over dictatorship and oppression.

The path ahead will not be easy, he said, and the cooperation of every Cuban is needed to put the nation on the road to full freedom, happiness and prosperity.

Castro warned of enemies still at large who are hiding arms and asked, "Are we going back to gangsterism and terrorism?"

"No," roared the huge crowd.

The rebel chieftain finally reached Havana Wednesday afternoon after a week of slow triumphal progress across the island from Oriente province.

The capital had been well on its way to normal, but all business and industry came to a quick halt at the word that the hero had come. Virtually the entire population of 1,225,000 poured into the streets to clap rhythmically and cheer as the leader and his bearded warriors made their slow way through the city. It was the biggest hero's welcome Cuba had ever seen.

Pleasant's Board Likes School Plan

By ALLAN BOVEY

With one exception, members of the Pleasant Board of Education, meeting Thursday night with the Marion County board, voiced approval of the proposed one-district school plan recommended for Marion County by the Ohio State University Bureau of Educational Research.

The meeting was the second of its kind set up by the county board to review the survey and get the opinions of the local boards as to whether the one-district should be put on the ballot.

A session in LaRue Tuesday resulted in an initial blanket rejection of the plan by the LaRue board, based, primarily, on a distance - of - travel problem that would transpire for that community's high school youngsters.

PLEASANT board members who indicated they were in favor with the one-district setup were John Lawrence, board president, Paul Smith, Merle Lust and Gordon Eichhorn. Demurring from a vote of approval was Clifford Seiter.

All assenting members qualified their approval, however, by asserting that they would be inclined to favor the one-district plan only if the accompanying recommendations made by the OSU bureau are carried through.

The survey, in addition to advocating a single district, recommended a three high school system, including Ridgedale and two new buildings, one to be located somewhere along State Rt. 98 between State Rt. 95 and U.S. Rt. 30-S, and the other near the junction of State Rts. 203 and 4. The bureau also called for setting up seventh and eighth grade programs at the LaRue, Pleasant and Claridon schools, with elementary facilities, including kindergarten, provided in each of the existing 10 districts.

MR. SEITER'S decision to withhold approval of the plan apparently was based on a desire to "wait and see" whether or not the state legislature will change the current law regarding approval

Martel Faces Possible Loss Of Its Charter

Among the 15 temporary high school charters that will be considered for revocation at a Monday meeting of the State Board of Education are those for Martel in Tully Township, and Whetstone in Crawford County's Whetstone Township, The Associated Press reported today.

Both schools have been operating on temporary charters for 7 or 8 years, according to Paul Zwayer, superintendent at Martel, and spokesmen from the Crawford county school superintendent's office.

There is little likelihood that the Whetstone charter will not be revoked. But, in view of the current move to establish a one-district school system in Marion County, there is a chance that Martel will be permitted to continue in operation under its present charter while current talks on consolidation are being carried on.

Reason for the revocation proceedings is that these schools, as

13 Indictments Are Returned By Jury Here

Marion County's January term grand jury slapped 13 criminal indictments against 12 persons this morning in Common Pleas Court.

Arraignments for the 12 are scheduled to begin Monday morning in the courtroom.

Reporting to Judge Paul D. Smith on the basis of evidence they heard Monday and Tuesday, the jurors returned indictments against a Marion man and woman charged with the Nov. 19 robbery of Grace Totaro's grocery store on W. Center St.

Indicted on the robbery counts were Opal M. Valodin, 38, of 135 E. Farming St. and Clarence Adkins, 31, of 495 Park St.

Separate indictments on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor and two counts of felonious assault were returned against 46-year-old William Delauder of 582 E. Mark St.

Indictments on auto theft charges were returned against Glendon W. Kight, 24, of 486 Thompson St. and Robert Short, 18, of near Cardington.

$8,000 Given To Man Suing City of Marion

Glenn R. Kellogg of 948 Merkle Ave. won a verdict of $6,000 against the city Thursday afternoon for injuries suffered by his wife in a 1956 Garfield Park mishap.

The verdict, $17,000 less than he sought, was returned by a Common Pleas jury at about 3:30 p.m. after an hour and 10 minutes of deliberation. All 12 jurors concurred in the verdict.

Mr. Kellogg filed the suit last July, charging that the city was responsible for severe leg and back injuries suffered by his wife, Pauline, when she stepped into a deep fence post hole after a picnic in Garfield Park on the night of Aug. 15, 1956.

He alleged the city created a nuisance and was guilty of negligence in leaving the hole without devices to warn the public of its presence.

His damage suit was a companion to one filed last July, by his wife, who seeks $50,000. That suit is scheduled for hearing in March.

City Officials Consider Sale of Land in Heights

Public sale of 2½ acres of city-owned land located along Vernon Heights Blvd. adjacent to the Marion Cemetery property is being planned by the city park board.

The lane is located on the north side of the boulevard and lies between the east end of the cemetery and the west boundary of the Charles H Isaly property. It is a strip of land 527 feet deep and 187 feet wide.

The city hopes to obtain $25,000 to $30,000 from sale of the land.

Decision to offer it for public sale, providing there are no restrictions in the deed donating the land to the city, was reached at a meeting of the park board, two committees of City Council and representatives for the Isaly family held Wednesday night.

The meeting was called to consider a request of the Isaly family that it be granted a 70-foot wide strip across the tract so that Brightwood Dr. might be extended from Mandana Ave. to Vernon Heights Blvd. In return for the 70-foot wide strip, the Isalys proposed to pave it and dedicate the paved street to the city.

After listening to the proposal, the park board, streets and alleys committee and lands and buildings committee decided to reject the

Could Decide Issue

Test Vote on Filibuster Move Scheduled Today

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The Senate drove toward a key test vote today on the power of senators to filibuster civil rights measures and other legislation to death.

The test was on a motion to table and thus kill a proposal of Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-NM) designed to establish that each new Senate has the right to determine its own rules by a majority vote.

The vote, first scheduled Thursday, was postponed until today.

Anderson's motion was the first in an effort of a bipartisan group of Northern and Western senators to put a tight curb on filibusters.

They said that if they lost out on this first round, they would attempt to change more to their liking a compromise antifilibuster resolution of Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex).

It was Johnson who offered the motion to table Anderson's proposal.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-NY), one of the coalition leaders, said the showdown on Johnson's tabling motion would be "the decisive vote on this whole question."

Opponents of a change in Senate rules contend that adoption of Anderson's motion would leave the Senate without any rules and open up a Pandora's Box of confusion.

In a move to counter that argument, the coalition forces planned to revise the proposal somewhat before the showdown vote.

Specifically, it would be revised to read that the rules of the Senate in the last Congress shall prevail in the new 86th Congress except for Rule 22, the antifilibuster rule.

Another new section would spell out that immediately following adoption of the resolution, the next order of business in the Senate would be to consider the revision of Rule 22.

Leaders of the coalition generally are urging that Rule 22 be overhauled to permit filibusters to be cut off by the votes of 50 senators, or a majority of all 98 senators.

Under the present rule, it takes the votes of 66 senators, or two-thirds of the entire membership, to bring a debate to a halt and force an issue to a vote.

Johnson's compromise proposal would permit filibusters to be choked off by two-thirds of the senators present and voting. This also would apply to motions to change the rules, now exempt from any debate limitation.

300 Spaniards Believed Dead As Dam Breaks

ZAMORA, Spain (AP)—A roaring wall of water, unleashed by a dam break on Lake Sanabria, engulfed the sleeping village of Rivadelago today. Less than 200 of the town's 500 inhabitants are known to be alive.

Only 12 hours after what is believed to be the worst catastrophe in recent Spanish history were rescue workers able to enter the ruins of Rivadelago as the waters receded. Not even a hurricane could have done more damage.

Engineers of the Monacabril Hydroelectric Co. estimated more than 230 million cubic feet of water had swept down the 1,700-foot drop onto the village shortly after midnight. The roar from the bursting dam and swirling water was heard in villages five miles away.

Pouring rain, flooding the dam for the past month, added to the horror of the scene.

Houses in Rivadelago, a town of 500 inhabitants, were swept away as if made of cardboard.

The dam broke at 12:30 a.m. and most villagers were asleep.

All fire trucks and ambulances, troops garrisoned in Zamora and members of the Falange party youth front were immediately ordered to the scene.

The Monacabril power station, on the western edge of the lake, and employes on duty there also were engulfed by the wall of water.

The disaster occurred in one of the most inaccessible sections of Spain. It posed no threat to American forces, whose nearest base is at Madrid, 190 miles to the southeast.

Steady rains over the past month had swollen the lake to the brim. It is also known as Lake Villachica and is located in the extreme northwest corner of Zamora province, about 10 miles north of the border with Portugal.

Rivadelago is just below the Monacabril dam.

Traffic Cases

Three traffic cases were disposed of in Marion Municipal Court Thursday. They were: I. A. Millisor, 40, 278 Peterson St., $15 and costs, speeding; Harrison B. Jones, 70, of 294 Cass Ave., $15 and costs (suspended), reckless driving; Robert A. Rollison, 26, of near Delaware, $15 and costs (suspended), crossing over a yellow line.

Auto Accidents

Five traffic accidents, one a hit-skip, were investigated Thursday by Marion police. The hit-skip occurred at 4:57 p.m. in the 300 block of S. Prospect St. A parked car owned by Stanley Wright, of 363 S. Prospect St. was struck by another vehicle which kept on going.

Each of the other four accidents caused less than $100 total damage, Marion police estimated.

Pleads Guilty

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Carl Moser, 66-year-old chiropractor, pleaded guilty to abortion when he was arraigned before Common Pleas Judge Claude V. D. Emmons Thursday. Dr. Moser, arrested last November, admitted performing abortions for the last 30 years, detectives said. The judge continued the case pending completion of pre-sentence investigation by the probation department.

Space Report Finished

Soviet Expected To Tell Of Manned Space Flight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union probably will soon announce the successful return of a human passenger from a rocket flight, a report issued by the House Space Committee has predicted.

On the United States side of the space timetable, a missile expert says four unmanned interplanetary shots are planned this year.

Study Made Public

The Rand Corp., which does space research for the Air Force, made the forecast about the Soviet flight. A broad study Rand completed for the House committee was made public Thursday night.

In issuing the 252-page document as a "space handbook," the committee under House Majority Leader John McCormack (D-Mass) called it the most comprehensive work of its kind for laymen.

The report said American intercontinental ballistic missile rockets can be adapted to attempt manned flight probably within less than five years. It added the Soviets will have as much or greater rocket capability in this period.

Other Soviet Points

The Rand study also made these points:

Launchings of hundreds of satellites — scientific, military and perhaps even commercial — by the early 1960s will so overburden present tracking and computing systems that new systems must be found quickly.

Seeing-eye satellites will have to be very large to carry necessary equipment to spot objects on earth.

Glide rockets, which shoot up like rockets and then glide back to earth, promise more efficiency than ballistic missiles.

Widespread Effects

A big atomic bomb exploded in space could be lethal for hundreds of miles, since there is no atmosphere in space to slow down atomic blast radiation.

A General Electric Co. missile expert dealt with the American space timetable in more immediate terms. Glen P. Bieging, manager of products planning in GE's heavy military electronics department at Syracuse, N.Y., said Thursday night in a Boston speech the United States plans four interplanetary shots this year.

Bieging said one of the shots may be aimed at Mars next month. He said Mars will be in a favorable position for a missile shot in February, March and April.

He said Venus may be another target, adding the planet will swing into a favorable position in early summer.

Aunt Mary

Los Angeles, California

PERSONAL

Dear Aunt Mary;

We were all glad to receive your nice letter last week. It is always nice to hear from you and we know that we deserved the little bawling out you gave us, too. Being our favorite aunt, we know we should write more often. Letter writing is sort of a tough job, though, but that is no excuse and from here on we are going to try to do better.

Aunt Mary, you will remember when you were out here a couple of years ago visiting, a lot of our friends and neighbors kept sort of putting the bee on us to build a nice new L-K here in Marion. Well, in fact, you said so, too. You will remember we drove you around to several of our L-K's and you commented that you thought it would be nice if we built a nice, new one here in Marion. Really, for a long time we were in accord with the idea, but we were always confronted with so many problems we sort of procrastinated. We wanted to be sure when we did decide to go ahead that we had the right location, that we developed the right plans, design, etc. We also didn't know just what to do with the old L-K and then, too, we were a little fearful that the new one might not develop a sufficient increased volume of business to justify the increased expenses, etc., to make it practicable. Anyway, we now have a new L-K here in Marion.

After thinking it over for the last three or four years, we decided to build it on the south edge of Marion on U. S. 23 just a short ways past and opposite Harding Memorial. I know you will remember the location because you thought it was nice when you were here. We decided on a rather modernistic design. In fact, we swiped some of our ideas from a couple of those new restaurants you showed us when we visited with you last year. It is a combination inside service and drive-in operation. We have a canopy that the drive-in cars can park under and electronic ordering system so they can order right from their car.

Gosh, the way it has been going, you would think we were in California. In spite of the cold weather, we have a great many customers every day eating outside in their cars. We are no longer worried about the increased volume of business because it is really coming along very wonderful. Not only are we doing a thriving business, but we are also getting a lot of nice compliments from our friends and customers and a lot of really good suggestions too.

Remember the time we were eating at one of your drive-ins there in California and had to wait so long on our food? As I recall, when our food finally arrived at the car, none of us were in the right disposition to enjoy it. Well, Aunt Mary, we are trying hard not to have that happen at our drive-in. In fact, the other night I went out for a period of several hours and timed each order going out. Most of the time it was only taking 4 to 5 minutes to get the food to our customers. Once in awhile it would take 7 or 8 minutes and that was pretty much dependent upon what the customer ordered.

One thing sure, we want to prepare everything just right, even though it does take a minute or two longer at times. We have a new type of chicken fryer and the chicken is really delicious. In fact, you wouldn't believe it, but it actually only takes 6 minutes to cook chicken and the most delicious chicken you have ever eaten. When our customers order such things as sandwiches, French fries, milk-shakes, onion rings, etc., we can generally get it to them in 5 or 6 minutes, but when they order chicken it may take 10 or 12 minutes. We are doing everything we can to keep the service good and sharp, and the food good.

We were pretty fortunate, too, in getting a nice group of people to work for us at this new L-K. We closed the old L-K and naturally took all those people out to the new L-K, but because it is a much larger operation, we had to hire 15 or 20 additional people. We had them all lined up well ahead of time and we sent them all to school and taught them the proper techniques in handling food, serving customers, etc. At the end of the school period, they all had to take an examination and everyone passed with a very complimentary grade. We think that shows that we were able to do a good job in selecting our people in the first place. In fact, we don't hire just anybody to work in our L-K's. We have a rather extensive procedure in checking our applicants out very thoroughly because we feel our customers are pretty important people and we want to have mighty good people, too, to serve them.

Gosh, Aunt Mary, we are really so enthusiastic about this new L-K and so happy about the way it is working out we could go on and on and just talk all day about it, but we know you plan a visit out here this spring. So, we will save the rest until you get here and can see it firsthand. The entire family are all well and happy here, kind of settling down after the Christmas rush. I'll bet we enjoyed the Rosebowl football game a lot more than you did. We know our Big Ten Champions are consistently just a little too good for your west coast boys, but maybe sometime they can win one yet. Tell Uncle John and all the rest of the family we said hello and Happy New Year and we will be looking forward with a lot of pleasant anticipation to seeing you all again.

Lovingly Yours,
Your Nephew
L-K

P.S.

I almost forgot to tell you we are selling a lot more steaks than we had anticipated, so to fulfill the demand we have installed one of the finest steak broilers on the market today.

New Liberal vs. Conservative Clash Looms in GOP's Ranks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republicans appeared heading today toward another liberal vs. conservative battle — this time over chairmanship of their Senatorial Campaign Committee.

Reports circulated among GOP members that Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, chairman of the party conference, was balking at the proposed appointment of Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona as head of the group charged with directing efforts to elect GOP senators in 1960.

Some of his colleagues said Saltonstall had indicated he believed the selection of Goldwater for this post would be regarded as a slap at organized labor and as a salute to the party's conservatives.

Goldwater was re-elected in November in a contest in which he attacked what he said was organized labor's use of union dues collected under compulsion for political purposes. Goldwater also has been an advocate of unions.

Goldwater had headed the Campaign Committee once before.

Saltonstall, who has the primary power of appointment, said he has not made up his mind about the Campaign Committee chairmanship. His recommendation is subject to ratification by the 34 Republican senators when they meet early next week.

Goldwater was one of the conservative bloc which backed Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois for the floor leadership when Dirksen defeated Sen. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky, candidate of a rebelling group of GOP liberals.

Reward Posted

BARBERTON, Ohio (AP) — A $500 reward was posted Thursday in the still unsolved Dec. 6 killing of Roy O. Ryen of Doylestown. Ryen, shot fatally, was found in his car in a field here and died in Citizens Hospital without regaining consciousness. The reward was posted by the American Legion Post at Doylestown and fellow-workers of Ryen at Goodyear Aircraft Corp. where he was an engineer.

Sentences Suspended

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Two confessed gun runners who said they were trying to help Fidel Castro's Cuban rebels received two-year suspended sentences in U.S. District Court here yesterday.

De Gaulle Has Firm Hand in Fifth Republic

PARIS (AP) — Some familiar faces appeared in different Cabinet spots today, but the French government was still heading down the track surveyed by Charles de Gaulle.

Installed Thursday as the first president of the Fifth Republic, De Gaulle may open his seven-year term with some measures of amnesty, especially for prisoners in Algeria.

Michel Debre dropped into De Gaulle's former job of premier, but the post wasn't the same any more. While De Gaulle held the job with strong emergency powers for seven months, Debre as minister of justice wrote the Fifth Republic's constitution to give more power to the president and reduce the prerogatives of the premier and the National Assembly.

One power now removed from the Assembly enabled Debre's Cabinet to go right to work. The Assembly no longer has to approve the Cabinet first and can remove it only by a membership majority, which at the same time must agree on a new Cabinet.

A strong majority in the new Parliament supports De Gaulle at present. In taking office, however, the World War II hero warned that he felt it his duty "to give France, to impose if need be, what the public good demands."

Debre appointed a 21-member Cabinet that included 17 ministers from De Gaulle's government.

Submits Low Bid

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Columbus firm, G. M. Baker and Son, Inc., apparently has submitted the low bid for drilling a water well at the Boys' Industrial School, Lancaster. The bid was $3,787, compared with the state estimate of $5,080.

Pennsy Hope of Early Merger Dashed by New York Central

NEW YORK (AP)—A possibility of other Eastern railroad mergers arose today from the short-lived and busted romance of the New York Central and Pennsylvania railroads.

The Central directors suggested Thursday that a study be made to create three or four rail systems in the East. Pending that, they added, no further steps should be taken toward a corporate merger of the Central with the Pennsylvania.

This was a fairly bitter pill for the Pennsylvania, although the Central directors sweetened it with the statement that they were pleased with results of the merger study and urged immediate "appropriate coordination of facilities which would result in substantial savings."

The possibility of merging the many Eastern lines into three or four major systems has been envisioned for years, with such roads as the Pennsylvania, New York Central, Baltimore & Ohio and Erie, each heading one system.

Such a plan would leave the Central and the Pennsylvania in a very competitive position.

Bible Words for Today

ROMANS 6:23—"For the wages of sin is death; but the free gift of God is eternal life in Christ Jesus our Lord." (RSV)

About our home are various gifts. There is a treasured painting, the gift of a highly esteemed couple, a book from our children, a pen set from another friend. We prize these articles far above their commercial value because we love the persons who gave them to us.

We also have another possession which came as a gift. We cherish it because we love the donor. Eternal life is the prize above all our possessions and it is even more important because we love God. It is His supreme gift to us. We could not buy it, neither could we earn it. It is made available to us because God loves us and we respond to that love. Truly it is the most valuable of our belongings.

Plan Titan Program

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Despite the spectacular successes of the Atlas satellite, the Air Force Materiel Command does not intend to abandon the Titan intercontinental ballistic missile program.

Maj. Gen. Ben I. Funk, commanding the ballistic missiles center in nearby Inglewood, says plans are being made for operational Titan weapons to be launched from underground sites.

Critical of Programs

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (AP) — Those tough guy television programs probably contribute to juvenile delinquency, says mystery writer Erle Stanley Gardner. He told the National Assn. of County and Prosecuting Attorneys that parents should protest against such programs. But he said the real solution is for TV networks to substitute something else.

Flynn Sticks To Claim He Fought in Cuba

NEW YORK (AP)—Actor Errol Flynn flew in from Cuba Thursday and scoffed at denials by some rebels that he took part in the mountain campaign of victorious Fidel Castro.

He alighted at Idlewild International Airport wearing a blue blazer with red buttons, blue slacks, and carrying a black walking stick. Around his neck he had a black bandana decorated with a number of emblems.

Flynn said Castro told him the "emblem was to be the new flag of Cuba when he gave it (the bandana) to me." The actor said he left Castro Saturday night. Castro made a triumphant entry into Havana Thursday.

As for reports he was not in the revolutionary campaign, Flynn said: "I think it is envy and animosity. I was the first one there before anyone gave this guy a hope."

Flynn said he was in Cuba for two months, most of the time with the Castro forces. The Cuban leader told him, Flynn said, "that from the morale point of view it (his being there) helped. Being an American of some prominence—this helped these men who had been fighting for 5½ years."

The actor did not disclose how he had made contact with Castro.

Meeting on Organizing CAP Group Postponed

Postponement of a meeting slated Sunday to investigate the possibility of setting up a local Civil Air Patrol unit was announced today by Louis A. Pinderski, one of the backers of the proposal.

He has received word from Lt Col. Edmund G. Pankow, commander of Group 5 of the CAP at Mansfield, that he will not be able to come to Marion Sunday as planned.

The meeting now is scheduled in City Hall on Sunday, Jan. 18, at 3 p.m., Mr. Pinderski said. Purpose of the meeting is to determine what steps are necessary to establish a senior CAP unit and a cadet unit in Marion. Several adults and teen-agers are interested in obtaining a CAP unit here, Mr. Pinderski said.

One of Marion's Finest Projects

The four Harding High School juniors who were chosen as local finalists in the American Field Service program are to be congratulated on a noteworthy achievement.

Jerry Bechtel, Kay Judith Fortner, Bonnie Jean Harmon and Judith Ann Langdon were selected from an original field of nearly 50.

One of them will visit abroad next summer for two months under the sponsorship of the Marion Rotary Club through the program administered by American Field Service.

The final choice will be made in the organization's New York office.

The project is really a three-way affair locally involving the Marion city schools, the Marion American Field Service committee and the Rotary Club.

The three groups are closely knit, since there are representatives from both the school system and the Rotary Club on the American Field Service Committee.

This is one of the finest endeavors of its type ever undertaken in Marion.

In recent years three foreign college students have spent summers in Marion and two high school seniors have been sent here from overseas to reside with a local family.

This is our first attempt at sending one of our own young people abroad on one of these programs which strive to improve international relations at the basic family level.

It will be a wonderful opportunity for the youngster chosen and the project will be an interesting experience for the entire community.

Are Dollars Worth Saving?

One of the things that will be said about President Eisenhower if he puts up a fight for a balanced budget is that he is more interested in money than in progress.

"Spendocrats" in Congress will sneer that he is just an Abilene, Kan., boy who does not understand why it is necessary to nick taxpayers for all the revenue that can be squeezed out of them. "Spendocrats" think of the perfect state as one in which political authority can turn on spending the way they turn on water, without worrying about the source of supply.

What, then, would be the President's motive for putting up a last-ditch fight for a balanced budget? What would he be trying to prove?

What is the purpose of balancing the budget anyway?

The answer is never given by "Spendocrats." It is the one thing they never mention.

The only purpose of balancing the budget is to save what is left of the value of dollars. It is to convince Americans and the international neighbors of the United States that this government is strong enough to practice what it preaches about stable currencies and sound credit.

It is to preserve the dollar's status as the world's most sought-after symbol of value. It is to give the international community confidence in monetary exchange with the United States and in the financial responsibility of the U.S. government, a primary source of international credit.

There is a scare over the dollar's long-range future. Sooner or later, the United States either must prove to the world its currency is backed by a solid sense of financial responsibility, or dollars will be depreciated as disastrously as pounds, francs and rubles have been depreciated.

This is President Eisenhower's motive to protect the dollar. Spendocrats will never mention it. He, himself, cannot say too much about it, lest he undermine the faith he is trying to strengthen. His sense of executive responsibility will be used against him in blasts against his leadership by irresponsible men getting ready to coax votes by promoting bigger and better distributions of ever-cheaper money to citizens they estimate are too dumb to understand the deception.

If the President is doomed to lose the battle of the budget, as everyone is predicting, it behooves every citizen to know what the issue is: Whether or not dollars are worth saving?

Majority Has Rights, Too

The great American quandary is not going to be wafted away by any formula for stopping filibusters, because it is built solidly into the concept of majority rule:

How can a majority protect its rights against the determined opposition of a minority, if the latter chooses to use obstructionist tactics?

The significance of the quarrel over the filibuster is the persistent abuse of a minority right in the U.S. Senate to block the majority will.

The only way to preserve the Union is to make certain that sovereign states cannot be pushed to the wall in irreconcilable differences; that is this newspaper's position.

The United States went to great pains in the United Nations Charter, for example, to include a veto power in the Security Council lest a majority of members force a minority to knuckle under on a showdown. The Soviet Union thereupon misused the veto and made it a symbol of frustration.

But the trouble was not the veto power; it was persistent abuse of the power by one member of the Security Council. In the Senate, the trouble has not been the right to block legislation but persistant misuse of the right by a minority of senators.

This has been the quandary of the American republic — this question of maintaining a proper balance between majority and minority rights. The majority is not sacred, nor is the minority always wrong just because it fails to be a majority.

Each must respect the other. If the minority demands protection — and sometimes it seems that the minority always is demanding protection without any inclination to protect the majority—the majority also has a right to take care of itself.

That is the issue of the filibuster — whether the majority's right to take care of itself is equal to the minority's right to take care of itself.

It is not going to be settled by any pat formula in 1959 any more than it was settled by formulas in 1917 and 1949, though each new formula has made it clearer that legislative obstructionism in the Senate is growing more objectionable to a greater number of Americans.

In a showdown of rights, in other words, the majority has been gaining a balance in its favor. Otherwise, the United States could be put at the mercy of whatever minority happened to be in the best position to inflict its will, which would be nothing more or less than dictatorship by pressure blocs.

It Was Fun To Laugh

The stories that Octavus Roy Cohen used to write for the Saturday Evening Post would be out of the question now. They would be offensive to colored people. Florian Slappey and the Sons and Daughters of I Will Arise would ge lampooning — a major social crime.

But we laughed, and it didn't keep us from seeing just as much merit in one branch of colored people as we see in any of the other branches. All people are one color or another.

It used to be fun to laugh without taking a look around first to see what eavesdropper might be waiting to pounce upon the act of laughter as a gratuitous insult to someone or something. We laughed at all kinds of things that were ridiculous. We even laughed at ourselves.

Woe to anyone who laughs now. He is suspected of not understanding the gravity of the situation, or of being contemptuous of the rights of others. It isn't credible in these sensitive times that a human being can laugh without being malicious.

Thanks to Octavus Roy Cohen, though, some of us learned how to do it. His death makes us wish it hadn't been so long since we had heard about him. We had assumed he must have died soon after his brand of humor disappeared — a long time ago.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

You don't suppose, do you, that Batista got out of Cuba because his docotor ordered him off SUGAR? It seems too bad both sides couldn't get together and agree on a revolution in summer instead of the height of the winter vacation season.

Business got so bad at the Havana hotels that guests began to ask for bulletins as well as breakfast in bed.

Havana has long been a favorite winter vacation ground for Americans, and may resume its pleasure status soon. But a revolution is not the American idea of tropical entertainment.

AMERICANS FLOCKED to Havana for nightclubs, gambling casinos and gay life. But early winter disturbances filled them with the fear that they might need to play roulette in an armored vest.

Unless Castro restores order fast, which he may, Miami and other southern vacation spots will be beneficiaries. The only war around Miami is between guests with and without reservations. All the fighting there is over beach chairs, cabanas, and places in mutuel-window lines.

A revolutionist could get control only if he became a nightclub sensation, cut mutuel tickets to 50 cents, and guaranteed a better form at dog tracks.

FIDEL STARTED the Cuban revolt as a one-man act and developed it into a "spectacular." It's the amazing case of a man making it the hard way.

All he seems to have had was a curious idea of chin whiskers, an aversion to a razor commercial and a conviction a man could function in an important way without a mahogany desk, a swivel chair, oriental rugs and a secretary to tell visitors that he was in conference.

Cuba is famed as a sugar country. But up to Batista's flight "One lump or two?" was apt to be a question asked by an agitator with clenched fists.

WOULD YOU CALL the Cuban setup a "Castro Convertible?

Remember away back when a nation could feel content without sending a rocket to the moon?

Man has progressed to a point where he can guarantee his own finish. He has become so smart he can behave brainlessly.

Public's Weapon

By David Lawrence

Lawrence

As the deputy premier of the Soviet government, Anastas Mikoyan is entitled to a courteous reception by the officials of the United States government. The American people, however, are under no obligation to embrace a man whose hands are dripping with the blood not only of his fellow-countrymen but of the people of Hungary and the other captive nations in Eastern Europe.

Indeed, this is the opportunity of a lifetime to do something for the millions of persons imprisoned even now in slave-labor camps in Russia and for the millions who are denied freedom behind the iron curtain.

For, as Mr. Mikoyan travels around America, questions can be asked him publicly concerning the conditions inside the Soviet Union for which he, as a part of the Kremlin apparatus, is responsible.

When, for instance, will censorship be removed so that the iron curtain can be lifted for the more than 300 million people who today are being forbidden to learn the truth of what's going on in the world around them or outside their countries?

When will the millions of innocent men and women under Kremlin control who have been thrown into jail, without a hearing or a trial, be given a chance to regain their liberty?

When will the elderly persons in the Soviet Union who have children in the United States and other countries be permitted to leave their native land so they may visit their families abroad?

WHEN WILL the right of self-government be given once more to Lithuania, Latvia, Estonia, Poland, Romania, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Hungary and East Germany?

When will freedom of expression be permitted for the writers of the Soviet Union, and when will an author like Boris Pasternak be allowed to accept an award given him by a non-political organization abroad such as the Nobel Prize for Literature?

When will the Kremlin withdraw its troops from the smaller countries continguous to it and let their peoples enjoy complete sovereignty?

Above all, when will the Soviet government begin to honor its pledges and its promises as written in treaties, agreements and document of an international nature in the 13 years since the close of World War II?

For there can be no assurance of peace if one of the powerful governments, with a vast military machine at its disposal, can at any time violate its written word and plunge the world into war.

Americans ought not to adopt one rule for dictators in this hemisphere and another for the dictators in Europe. Only a few days ago Dr. Milton Eisenhower, the President's brother, said in a report to the White House on Latin American affairs:

"I BELIEVE THE suggestion of Vice President Nixon is sound and would be applauded by Latin America itself—that we have an 'abrazo" (embrace) for democratic leaders, and a formal handshake for dictators."

This expresses accurately the manner in which the United States should react to the visit of Anastas Mikoyan. He is not deserving of the social embraces which some short-sighted Americans are giving him.

He could mistake this for approval of Communist methods and customs. In fact, the main reason why the deputy premier has come here, and the main reason why Premier Khrushchev sent him to urge a "summit" conference, is that this is one way to set in motion a dramatic distortion of America's position. It is a way of gaining prestige at home for the dictatorship.

MORE THAN anything else in the world, American approval of Communist behavior is important to the Kremlin in squelching any possible uprisings inside the Soviet Union.

To welcome Mr. Mikoyan in America with open arms, and without voicing any protest, is to furnish headlines in the Soviet-controlled press telling the Soviet people that the people of this country no longer disapprove of or at least are unwilling to combat the Communist philosophy.

America's moral force is the most powerful weapon in the world—it can move millions of people behind the iron curtain.

So, on the kind of "reception" given the deputy premier of the Soviet Union as he tours this country depends the hope of the oppressed and the enslaved in whose hearts and minds the craving for freedom and liberty will never die.

Letters to The Star

Urges Local Talent Show at Fair

To The Star: Since there are many cultural organizations in our city and county I would like to suggest that a cooperative effort be made to promote a show of local talent at the Marion County Fair for 1959 for at least one evening's entertainment.

We have many and varied talents, and, it seems to me, the people of the city and county should be made aware of them and help to develop more of it.

Here are some ideas: We have a county chorus and band which puts on one concert each year. We had a very unfortunate experience a few years ago when the management of the Fair pushed aside this contribution for lack of publicity, or rather "backing" for the Midwestern Hayride instead of our county bands. It discouraged our music teachers from any further efforts in that direction. We should give them a real chance.

Then there are the Harding High School band, orchestra and chorus. What about the Marion Catholic High School? There is the community orchestra directed by Mr. Miller. There are the Marion Serenaders, the Buckeye Four, the various branches of the Lecture-Recital Club, the Junior Composers Club, the Par Dance Club, the Drum and Bugle Corps whose shows we miss, the lodges and granges with their colorful drill teams, and what became of the Marion Little Theater? Let us revive it.

There are the Child Conservation Leagues, the various departments of women's clubs, the garden clubs, the sororities, etc. Couldn't we cooperate in a real community venture and put on a genuine old-fashioned vaudeville show with dramatic skits, musical ensembles, quartets, choruses, monologs or dialogs, gymnastic exhibitions, dance numbers, magic stunts, all ending in a grand concert by the combined bands and choruses. All this to be limited to Marion city and county talent.

We used to need a band shell for this sort of thing, but the racing oval could not be cluttered by such an obstruction. Our modern loudspeaker systems have eliminated this need.

The money which would be spent for outside talent could be used to distribute medals or trophies to the participating groups instead and encourage cultural activities at home.

It is true many put on public concerts, etc., for money but a very limited number of people have a chance to see or hear them to really know what they are like. This could be an advertising venture for each. There is a lot of hidden talent in our midst and it should be publicized to make life more interesting for all concerned.

Since the county fair is a place for displaying our material resources, why not provide an opportunity to display our spiritual resources as well? Our neighboring counties do.

Hardin County has had band competition for several years and we have had the pleasure of witnessing a show of local talent at the Wyandot County Fair. Let's show ours!

Johnson's 'Message'

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Every year now the country is being handed what amounts to two State of the Union messages; one from President Eisenhower, the other from Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, leader of the Senate Democratic meeting.

Before Eisenhower could go up to Congress to deliver his today, Johnson had already stated his. He did it Wednesday at a Democratic meeting.

It's part of American history that at the beginning of each session of Congress the President tells the representatives and senators about the state of the union.

THE MESSAGE is in effect his program for the year. But it's up to Congress whether to make the program a reality with legislation.

Johnson, who denies he has any ambitions for the presidency, seems to be making his message an annual event, too. He did it last year before Eisenhower could travel up to the Capitol. Now he's done it again.

While Eisenhower's message might be considered the senior one and Johnson's just a junior message, both are important and for a very obvious reason:

In a Congress where the Democrats have an overwhelming majority over the Republicans, Eisenhower is going to have to depend mostly on the Democrats to put his program through.

BUT JOHNSON, as leader of the Democrats, is in a good position to push for his own program over Eisenhower's if he doesn't like what the President offers. This year, as last, Johnson was critical of the Eisenhower administration's leadership.

The President's message, of course, gets complete coverage by the press and plenty of copies of it are made available. But the Johnson statement was widely distributed, too.

The two messages have one thing in common: They talk in broad, general terms. Eisenhower will follow up his during the year with more details in separate proposals he'll send up one at a time.

BUT JOHNSON even beat the President to that idea. Last Nov. 7, right after the Democrats had drowned the Republicans in the elections, Johnson made a speech before a group of Texas businessmen.

Out before he ever got there his speech was all prepared, mimeographed and distributed to newsmen in Washington, thus getting for it a maximum amount of publicity.

Johnson outlined a 12-point program, some parts of which seemed destined to draw Eisenhower's fire and might even be in conflict with what the President had to say in his message today. Johnson called for:

1. A new farm program. (Eisenhower has said he would not propose any change in the administration farm policy).
2. Help for areas of chronic unemployment. (Eisenhower last year vetoed an area development bill which far exceeded his own recommended program).
3. Stepped up water development in the West.
4. Lowering of interest rates that he said were slowing down economic growth.
5. A "bold" housing program.
6. An expanded airport building program.
7. Review of foreign policy.
8. A "consistent policy for Latin America which will help our neighbors to help themselves."
9. Breathing life into the newly created space agency and launching a program to explore outer space.
10. A program to develop peaceful uses of the atom.
11. Urban renewal.
12. Passage of a labor bill to curb racketeers.

Barefoot Girl

By Truman Twill

I was impressed, and I'll bet a couple dozen New York reporters were too, when the wife of their state's new governor took them on a tour of the executive mansion in her stocking feet.

Mrs. Nelson A. Rockefeller is within an inch and a half of six feet, and habitually kicks off her shoes to bring herself down to the height of her guests; that is the explanation.

But what impresses me is this reminder in a hoity-toity setting that the clean sweep of inhibitions characteristic of the mid-20th century is doing to women's shoes what it did to men's hats.

When word gets around that the wife of the governor of New York —and married to one of the Rockefeller boys at that — goes barefoot, "shoeless ones" in the rest of the country will be taken off the defensive.

At least some of us will not think quite so much about it.

The truth is, nothing undermines my composure faster than a barefoot woman. I have a trauma about it.

Its origins are obscure, but it's there. Whenever I see a barefoot woman, I pick lint off my blue serge and find objects of transcendent interest at right angles to what strikes me as something I should not be gazing on brazenly.

I can still shudder at the memory of an otherwise dear female relative who had a passion for rambling about on dew-covered grass in her bare feet.

I recall how I welcomed the end of the barefoot season when I was a child, though it was assumed that all little boys of that receding era hated to put on shoes when summer ended.

To this day, the simple act of having shoes fitted throws me for a loop, because there is no privacy. I am not at ease with my shoes off in public.

I have a trauma, all right.

The first lady of New York, has speeded up its cure by going shoeless in the governor's mansion. That makes shoelessness respectable.

That must have been the source of my trauma — the quest for respectability. In my childhood, the big thing was to wear shoes, to prove you had 'em.

Today it's different. There is no special point in wearing shoes; nothing is proved. "All God's chillums got shoes now . . ."

Kicking them off proves they are no longer of any importance. The girl who was brought home by the No. 1 son at the Twillery almost never puts them on at all and this has been a test of my composure.

The idea has been spreading in my household until I am the only one left who is a good bet to be wearing shoes in case the bomb drops, or company comes. My trauma has been giving me big trouble.

But if the first lady of New York, and a Rockefeller to boot, can afford to be a "shoeless one," what is there for me to choke up about? Not that I am likely to pad about in my bare feet, but if the women in my household are happy about going barefoot it's now "comme il faut."

News of Other Years

40 YEARS AGO — A strike of nearly 12,000 marine workers at the Port of New York tied up all ferry service and threatened to paralyze literally all activity there.

Despite the fact that the war had ended, the cost of living showed indications of a continual rise. Federal authorities assured wage earners, however, that their pay would remain at the war-time high to meet the tide of rising costs.

Nearly 200 section men, half the force on the Kent division of the Erie Railroad, were laid off here as a result of track work for the winter being nearly completed.

20 YEARS AGO — H. L. Griffith, Mount Gilead newspaper publisher and former postmaster there, took over his duties as the new Ohio Secretary of State. He was sworn into office following the inauguration of Gov. John W. Bricker. Attending inaugural ceremonies in Columbus to see his old schoolmate and friend assume the governorship was Marvin C. Thomas of 209 Kenmore Ave.

Cecil R. Leavens of 1065 E. Church St., city safety-service director for the last year, was named purchasing agent of the State Highay Department by Robert S. Beightler, highway director.

Salesmen of the Marion Steam Shovel Co. from cities throughout the country opened a two-day meeting at the plant here. A feature of the session for the 25 in attendance was a dinner program at Hotel Harding, John Courtright, sales manager from Marion, reported.

10 YEARS AGO — Fire destroyed the Hodson Hatchery and Supply Store just south of LaRue on Rt. 37, doing damage estimated between $40,000 and $50,000. Three adjoining buildings including the residence of owner Harold C. Hodson were saved by the LaRue Volunteer Fire Department which brought the early morning fire under control after battling heavy odds for more than an hour.

Monitors Ask For Power To Hobble Hoffa

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teamsters Union monitors hope to get today broad court powers to force a real cleanup of the Teamsters Union.

The monitors carried to U.S. District Judge F. Dickinson Letts an order for his signature implementing the court's ruling last Dec. 11. The court found then that Teamsters President James R. Hoffa has been frustrating and blocking monitor-suggested reforms.

The order would give the monitors powers to break the machine that helps Hoffa rule the 1,600,000-member Teamsters.

Hoffa's lawyers were prepared, however, to urge Judge Letts to tone down the order, particularly one part aimed at barring Hoffa from holding a special union convention in March.

Martin F. O'Donoghue, chairman of the three-man monitor board, said the monitors have a long list of complaints against Hoffa but have delayed acting because of a running battle with the Teamsters over the extent of monitor powers.

A talk by the Rev. M. E. Hollensen, pastor of the Emanuel Lutheran Church, was featured at the January meeting of the Mothercraft Circle of the Child Conservation League held Wednesday night.

Speaking on the topic "Spiritual Training of Your Children," the Rev. Mr. Hollensen told the 16 members attending that mothers have an excellent opportunity to teach their children worthwhile things.

This is possible because of the willingness of young children to believe, unquestioningly, what their parents tell them, he explained. Emphasizing the need for spiritual training, he said that parents should start church attendance for their children while they are still young and can grow into the habit.

Lady Pharmacist Routs Two Gunmen in Barrage of Bottles

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—A lady pharmacist with a strong throwing arm routed two gunmen Thursday night with a barrage of bottles.

Mrs. Marian Buckmaster ducked behind a counter when the bandits tried to hold up cashier Marlene Hair, 21, on the other side of the drug store.

She opened her attack with a pint of iodine. The bottle hit one man on the side of the head and broke. The gun in his hand discharged, sending a bullet into Miss Hair's toe.

Mrs. Buckmaster executed a flanking maneuver behind the cover of her counter, popped up and hurled a quart bottle of cough syrup. It smashed on the counter next to the gunmen, drenching them.

The bandits went into a sticky retreat, firing wildly about the store at their unseen foe. One bullet smashed into a perfume display, spreading an overpowering aroma over the battlefield.

As the bewildered, bespattered bandits turned and fled Mrs. Buckmaster loosed a final salvo. She was a little high with the hair oil, missed to the left with the shampoo, but nicked one fleeing figure with the mouth wash.

When it was all over, the drug store was a mess and Miss Hair was hospitalized. But the cash was still in the drawer.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann: I don't know who is giving me more trouble, my husband or my son.

We were married 16 years before our boy was born. I was 41 years of age and my husband was was 48. It was a great surprise and something of a "miracle." We had given up hope of ever having a child of our own.

Teddy is now 8. When I try to discipline him his dad says (in the boy's presence): "He's only a child — you're too hard on him." This leaves me completely stranded.

Last night I asked Teddy for the fourth time to turn off his TV and go to sleep. It was 11 p.m. He replied, "Drop dead!"

I decided this was "it." I pulled him out of bed and gave him a few whacks on the bottom. He screamed for his dad and claimed I was beating him to death. My husband yanked him away from me (as if to protect him from some horrible monster) and said, "Don't you dare lay a hand on my son again."

The boy grinned victoriously. What can I do? — DEFEATED.

The real problem is your husband. If you could get his brains unbraided your son would be fine. When children sense a split in the family dike they become experts at the divide-and-conquer technique.

Any child who tells his mother to "drop dead" deserves exactly what your son got. Your husband should not have interfered. Enlist the aid of someone who specializes in children's problems and educate your husband before he ruins the boy beyond repair.

Not Funny

Dear Ann: My head is about to bust. I became engaged last year when I was a senior in high school. My fiance will be home from Japan in February. The wedding is set for March.

In August I met a fellow at a summer resort. He knew I was engaged (I never remove my ring) but we went out together for "laughs." By the end of the vacation he asked if I'd consider him a marriage prospect. I said "no" but agreed to correspond with him.

Well, the letters he writes thrill me much more than those I get from my fiance. Now I'm so mixed up I don't know what to do. If I could spend an evening with either of these boys right now I'd choose the Summer Romance. Help me think straight, please! — BALLOON HEAD.

Dear Balloon Head: My advice is to forget about marriage to anyone for at least a year. You need time to think things out before you make a permanent decision. Next summer could produce a new face — and he could be it.

Good Luck

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a girl 13 years of age and have a big problem. My father is very reasonable in lots of ways but he hates to see a girl wearing men's pants.

All my girl friends wear jeans, slacks and riding britches. He says it looks terrible and that ladies should wear skirts. When I go on hay rides, skating or bicycling I'm the only girl wearing a skirt. I feel out of place.

My father thinks your column is sensible. If you're on my side it may help. Would you come to the rescue of a girl whose problem is not a matter of life and death, but means a lot to me just the same? — PADDY.

Dear Paddy: Some females should never wear trousers. They are the ones who ruin it for the others. However, a gal in her teens should be permitted to wear slacks on the occasions you mentioned. It not only looks better but it's more practical and more comfortable.

Select (with your mother's consent) a pair of conservative slacks. Make certain they are not too tight. Model them for your dad and read him this column. Good luck.

Confidentially

TO TWINKLE-TOES: "Fun-loving" my eye! Stay home where you belong or you may be dancing to the tune of his divorce lawyer.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Marion Star enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Republican Job-Saving Attempts Hit by DiSalle

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Democratic Gov.-elect Michael V. DiSalle intends to look into what he says appear to be last-minute eattempts to save lucrative jobs for two top Republicans in the current state administration.

The two are Senate Clerk Tom Bateman and former Registrar of Motor Vehicles George Braden.

Bateman was named director of the Legislative Reference Bureau at $12,000 a year—the same salary he received as senate clerk.

The appointment was made by the vote of outgoing Republican Gov. C. William O'Neill, former House Clerk Carl Guess and Bateman himself before the Democrats took over control of the legislature. His salary is almost double that of his predecessor.

Now, both Senate and House clerkships are Democratic, and the vote of either with DiSalle could make Bateman jobless.

Braden has been named to the $10,320 post of executive assistant in the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction.

Braden, while working for Dr. Robert A. Haines, department director and a holdover from the O'Neill Cabinet, will draw $480 more than he received as motor vehicles registrar.

"I most certainly intend to look into this too," DiSalle commented Thursday. "Dr. Haines told me nothing of this when we conferred last Monday."

The incoming governor said earlier that he planned no "ripper legislation" to get rid of O'Neill holdovers who were qualified for their jobs. But he added he would not tolerate loading up their departments with out-of-work Republicans.

DiSalle, who will be inaugurated Monday, also said that one of his first acts as governor will be to study Ohio's liquor control system. He referred particularly to the operation of so-called one-man clubs which hold private-club permits.

He said he considers a pay raise for the 40,000 rank-and-file state workers one of the "needs" his administration will meet.

He did not say how much of a pay raise he might propose or when it would be introduced in the Legislature.

Of the liquor question, DiSalle commented that he would be in favor of having higher caliber enforcement agents "even if it means having fewer of them."

In the same vein, he added: "We are going to make sure that persons holding liquor permits run decent, respectable places of business. There will be no room for any other kind."

Dallas Police Seek Clues in Brutal Attack

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Police tried today to find why a shapely young wife of a Marine stationed on Okinawa was beaten, strangled and left nearly dead in a downtown office building.

Mrs. Trella Joy Carter, 18, a blonde office worker, was in fair condition early today after surgery for multiple face and head cuts.

She was found slumped on the floor of a shallow closet by an electrician at 3:40 p.m. Thursday. Clerks called the electrician after they noticed blood trickling down ceiling wire conduits into their fifth floor office.

Homicide Capt. Will Fritz said the girl, semi-conscious and in shock, had been unable to talk to investigators. Doctors indicated the pretty mail clerk had not been raped.

A length of flexible steel binding strap was twisted about her throat, the officers said, and her blouse, skirt and hose were torn.

Fritz said no motive or definite suspects have been discovered.

Fritz said the girl formerly lived in Mount Pleasant, Tex., but now resided in nearby Grand Prairie, Tex., while her husband was in Okinawa with the Marines.

He said the girl's attacker apparently smashed her head repeatedly against the edge of the closet door and sharp-cornered switch boxes.

Woman Freed After Quizzing In Kidnap Case

NEW YORK (AP) — A slight blonde has been released after questioning in the kidnap case of Lisa Rose Chionchio, snatched from the nursery of St. Peter's Hospital in Brooklyn last Friday when she was 2½ hours old.

Police have been looking for a bleached blonde seen loitering about the hospital before the infant was spirited away.

Thursday, two young girls on a Brooklyn subway train saw a woman muttering to herself as she read a newspaper story about the kidnaping. The girls followed the woman from the train and hailed Patrolman Thomas Sheridan.

Sheridan said the woman refused to answer questions and tried to walk away from him. She threatened to sue for false arrest, but then allowed herself to be taken to a police station. She was not identified.

Questioned for several hours, she was then released.

Police believe the Chionchio baby was taken by a woman with a frustrated maternal complex. The FBI is also taking part in the hunt.

House GOP Leaders Want Stronger Legislative Policy Voice

Seek Added White House Recognition

Rep. Halleck Serving Notice Minority Will Be No Rubber Stamp

WASHINGTON (AP)—The new Republican leaders in the House are calling for more recognition by the White House in formulating future legislative policy.

Notice that the Republican minority in Congress does not intend to be a White House "rubber stamp" came from Rep. Charles A. Halleck, newly elected GOP leader of the House.

This new evidence of Republican unrest took form as President Eisenhower prepared to go before Congress today to outline in broad terms the legislative program he wants from the heavily Democratic 86th Congress.

Leadership Shuffled

Halleck on Tuesday toppled the 20-year leadership reign of Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts in a GOP House insurrection. Many members said they were dissatisfied with what they called lack of vigor in backing Republican policy aims.

Halleck told newsmen Thursday that one of his objectives was a "real close cooperation" between Congress and the White House in the future.

Halleck underscored his position by designating the President's programs as "Republican-Eisenhower" programs.

"The Republican minority in the House is not going to be a rubber stamp," he said, adding:

"By that, I mean that in the next two years we are going to work out some reasonable relationship with the White House in developing a program."

Refers to Revolt

Referring to the revolt that raised him to the leadership, Halleck observed:

"In part, one objection (to the old leadership) was that the views of Republicans in Congress were not transmitted with sufficient vigor and emphasis to the White House."

In the last Congress, and more particularly last year, Republican grumbling was widespread over what many GOP House members felt was administration refusal to recognize complaints from Congress.

City Solicitor Riley Hall called two witnesses to support the city's contention that it had not created a nuisance and that Mrs. Kellogg was guilty of contributory negligence.

of the foreign aid program, but did not estimate its cost. The request is expected to go higher than the $3,700,000,000 tagged for spending this year.

Eisenhower did not list the domestic programs to be curtailed or dropped in his campaign to achieve a balanced 77-billion-dollar budget. His budget message will go to Congress Jan. 19.

His challenge to the Democratic Congress to live within that budget underscored an issue almost sure to figure in the 1960 presidential campaign.

Issue Already Raised

Democratic congressmen already have challenged the announced total as unrealistic and inadequate for national security. Some Republicans have joined them in questioning the $40,900,000,000 reportedly included for defense.

Without mentioning the 77-billion figure today, Eisenhower hit back at contentions it isn't big enough in the light of the Soviet Union's spectacular progress in the space field.

The President called his defense plans sensibly balanced against a need for maintaining a sound economy and fighting off devastating inflation. And he cautioned against useless military expenditures which, in the name of security might tend to undermine the economy and, therefore, the nation's safety.

"We can afford everything we clearly need, but we cannot afford one cent of waste," he said.

Up to Congress

Putting it squarely up to Congress, Eisenhower said: "The Constitution entrusts the executive with many functions, but the Congress—and the Congress alone—has the power of the purse. Ultimately upon Congress rests responsibility for determining the scope and amount of federal spending."

Eisenhower held out hope for tax relief, saying that if a balance is achieved "there is real hope that we can look forward on a time in the foreseeable future when needed tax reforms can be accomplished."

The President announced he is requesting Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson to study revision of the tax structure "to remove inequities and enhance incentives for all Americans to work, to save and to invest."

He promised to recommend such revision as soon as fiscal conditions permit.

"These prospects will be brightened if 1960 expenditures do not exceed the levels recommended," Eisenhower said.

As for the Communist threat, Eisenhower repeated that the United States is determined to stand firm, for example, against the Soviet Union's plan for ousting the Western Allies from West Berlin.

Calling world peace America's overriding goal, the President said it cannot be built through desire alone and that this country must stay militarily strong.

"Moreover," he said, "we have learned the bitter lesson that international agreements, historically considered by us as sacred, are regarded in Communist doctrine and in practice to be mere scraps of paper. The most recent proof of their disdain of international obligations, solemnly undertaken, is their announced intention to abandon their responsibilities respecting Berlin.

No Confidence Justified

"As a consequence, we can have no confidence in any treaty to which the Communists are a party except where such a treaty provides within itself for self-enforcing mechanisms."

In calling for a sensible posture on defense, Eisenhower said this is a time when man's power of mass destruction has reached fearful proportions.

The United States, Eisenhower said, seeks only a just peace for all.

"Yet we realize there is an uneasiness in the world because of a belief on the part of peoples that through arrogance, miscalculation or fear of attack, catastrophic war could be launched," the President added.

He said the new fiscal year commitments for America's armed forces, the Atomic Energy Commission and military assistance abroad exceed 47 billion dollars, about 60 per cent of the total budget. Eisenhower put the estimate in general terms.

Ignores Contentions

Eisenhower took no direct note of Democratic contentions that the United States is not going far enough fast enough in the missile and general space fields.

With such things as the Soviet Union's rocket to the sun area obviously in mind, the President said: "We clearly recognize that some of the recent Soviet achievements in this particular techolnology are indeed brilliant.

But he said this country, too, has made great strides. The 4½-ton Atlas rocket in orbit around the earth illustrates a steady advance, he said.

MAYOR STRONG, a native of Mount Vernon, made his first bid for public office in the May 1957 primary, defeating Harold Robinson to win the nomination. The following November he downed Democratic incumbent Gale D. Ireland.

The 36-year-old mayor was graduated from Chesterville High School in Morrow County and later attended Ohio State University. Before coming to Mation 11 years ago he was employed as an insurance investigator in Indianapolis, Ind. He currently works part-time as a paper supplies salesman.

A member of the Lions Club, the mayor is a former president of the Young Republican Club, former secretary of the Marion Jaycees, a trustee of the Marion County Traffic Safety Committee and a trustee of the Fourth of July Celebration Committee.

Last January he was named one of five outstanding young men in Ohio in competition sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

He is married to the former Miss Jean Masters of Mount Gilead. They have two daughters and reside at 869 Congress St.

Mr. Porter is a member of the Wesley Methodist Church and the Elks Lodge. He is married to the former Miss Mary Batsch and they have five children.

Water Co. Authorized To Issue Stocks, Bonds

The Marion Water Co. has been authorized to issue $700,000 in first mortgage bonds bearing 5 per cent interest each year, and 1,600 shares of common capital stock at $125 per share, the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio reported today. Proceeds will be used to reduce short term loans.

Council Group To See DiSalle Assume Office

The regular meeting of Marion City Council Monday night probably will be recessed until Tuesday night to permit three Democratic councilmen to attend the inauguration of Gov.-elect Michael V. DiSalle in Columbus.

Plans of the council are for a majority to meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday and immediately consider a motion to recess until the same time Tuesday night.

The three council members planning to attend the inauguration are: Mrs. Norma Jacob (D-5th), Thomas C. Fetter (D-at large) and John Williams (D-2nd).

Mrs. Jacob said that with the three members absent, the remaining six members could not adopt any important legislation anyway.

One piece of legislation that will be listed on the council agenda is the annual appropriations ordinance. It requires a seven-vote majority for adoption as emergency legislation and, because it provides operating funds for various departments, must be adopted as soon as possible after the start of the year.

Council traditionally considers the ordinance at its first meeting in January. Action cannot be delayed until the second meeting in January because city payrolls come due on Jan. 15.

Land Sale

Isaly offer in favor of offering the entire tract for sale to the highest bidder, according to reports from Joseph Galloway, park board chairman, and Ralph Williams, streets and alleys committee chairman.

It also was tentatively decided to include a restriction in the sale of the property that the tract must be annexed to the city, Mr. Williams said. It now lies outside the city limits although it is owned by the city.

Those attending the meeting Wednesday night were: Mrs. Norma Jacob (D-5th); Thomas Fetter (D-at large); Mr. Williams, (R-4th); Lowell Doyle (R-3rd); Robert O. Stout, county prosecuting attorney; Robert S. Brown, city school superintendent; Louis B. Conkle, representing the Isaly family; William Isaly; and Mr. Galloway, John Fields and Roland McKee of the park board. Robert Kelley, former chairman of the park board, was present and served as legal adviser for the board.

20-30 Club To Aid In Polio Campaign

Richard Freese, project chairman of the club, was named as general chairman of the 20-30 Club Convention to be held in Marion on Saturday, April 18. The convention will consist of a business meeting, dinner and dance. Mr. Freese announced all committee appointments.

Program chairman, Richard Moore, outlined the programs for the next month. Announcement was made that members will sell peanuts for the March of Dimes in the downtown business section on Friday and Saturday, Jan. 23 and 24.

Dr. Daniel Murphy extended to the club an invitation to attend the Lions Club meeting, Monday noon at Hotel Harding to hear a talk by Charles H. Keating, chairman of the Ohio and Cincinnati Citizens for Decent Literature Committees.

A board meeting and convention committee meeting were held after the regular business meeting.

During an organizational meeting of the YMCA's new photography club Wednesday night, Stan Pierce was elected president.

Other officers selected were Lester H. Stabner, vice president, and Mrs. Ruth Lowry, secretary.

Plans were made to hold meetings on two Wednesday nights during each month, with the next one to be held Jan. 21.

The evening was spent in taking and developing slide pictures and then showing them on a screen under the direction of John Lehman, instructor.

Persons still interested in club membership may contact the YMCA.

vember by city police after a wild chase that ended in a cornfield west of Marion on State Rt. 95. He is charged with stealing a car owned by John E. Wylie of 511 Universal Ave. Short was charged in an affidavit signed by Harry Delauder of Marion.

Chester A. Jones, 22, of Ashley was indicted on a charge of assault with intent to rob. He currently is serving a 1 to 20-year sentence in the Mansfield Reformatory for violating probation after an earlier indictment on an auto theft charge.

Arrested in November

Jones was arrested early in November after allegedly attempting to rob C. B. Harris, an attendant at the Dixie Hotel on N. Main St. Harris overpowered Jones and held him for police.

James M. Jackson, 33, of 750 Fairfield St. was indicted on two counts of breaking and entering in connection with a burglary at the Ace-Hi Club on Hocking St.

Also indicted on breaking and entering charges were Harry L. Armstrong Jr., 19, of 478 W. Columbia St.; Kenneth E. Benson, 18, of 129 Fairview St. and Warren R. Rowland Jr., 25, of 1012 Bryant St.

Benson was charged by sheriff's deputies with burglaries last summer at McCumber's Grocery in Morral. Armstrong is charged with breaking into the Cory Rubber Co. plant here and stealing about $4 last October. Rowland is charged with breaking into the home of Miss Shirley A. Brewer at 210 Wallace St.

Lowell H. Cray, 23, of 124 Forest Lawn Blvd., was indicted on a charge of assault with intent to rape. He was arrested last month after a 20-year-old Marion woman accused him of criminally assaulting her.

Ethobert Brammer, 25, of 659 Emerson Ave. was indicted on two counts of uttering forged instruments.

The grand jury made its usual visit to the Marion county jail, finding it in a "clean and sanitary condition." They noted that proper discipline was being maintained by Sheriff Obenour.

Reports on Facilities

However, the jurors found that there are "certain dangers present because of existing conditions in the jail," and recommended that adequate cells be provided for mental patients and that separate and modern accommodations be provided for women prisoners.

Their report further stated that adequate fire escapes be provided, and that an efficient ventilating system be installed.

The jury requested that existing poor conditions in the jail and other inadequacies be brought to the attention of the county commissioners and that, if funds are not available to effect necessary changes, that they be made available through a tax levy or bond issue.

The report recommended no change in present jail management.

Dwight L. Wenig of near LaRue was the foreman of the jury and Doris E. McCombs of 128 N. Seffner Ave. was the clerk. Other members of the jury were: D. Fern Alexander of 790 Congress St., Cecil Murphy of near Marion, Loren N. Mounts of near Prospect, Carl W. Cochrell of 324 Madison Ave., James Boblenz of Morral, John J. Davis of 250 Merchant Ave., James C. Neff of near Marion, Mary Lou Dorfe of 286 Superior St., Jean W. Crowe of Green Camp, Dorothy L. Roseberry of Linda Mel Dr., Glenn D. Stakey of near Galion, Fred P. Septer of 305 Olney Ave., Bernard L. Werline of 153 Campbell St. and William S. Caskey of near Caledonia.

5,000 To Attend Ball

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Demand for tickets points to the largest inaugural ball ever held in Ohio, General Chairman Robert E. Wallace said today.

He said preparations are being made for 5,000 at the Monday night affair climaxing the inauguration of Democrat Michael V. DiSalle as governor.

School District

necessary to carry such a measure at the polls.

As of now, nine of the 10 districts could be in favor of the plan, but it would fail at the polls if only one district disapproved.

D. T. Mills, county superintendent, noted that the State Board of Education had recommended that this law be changed so that a majority "in the county at large" could pass a proposal such as this. He said there "is every likelihood that such an action will transpire," but added that "there is no guarantee to that effect."

Present for the meeting besides the Pleasant board members and Mr. Mills were Myron Halley, superintendent of Pleasant; Walter Haldeman, clerk of the board; and Dallas Cornett, Pleasant vocational-agriculture teacher. Representing the county board were Ralph F. Williams, president; H. Clay Smith, C. J. Roberts and John H. Mills.

THERE WAS some discussion as to what steps could be taken to insure that all recommendations of the survey were adopted if and when the one-district plan were adopted.

Paul Smith wanted to know whose responsibility it would be to see that the other proposals of the survey were carried out. Mr. Williams said it would be up to the five-man board named to run the new district.

He noted that the county board would select the new board members, who would then serve until the following general election, at which time the county electorate would vote on their representatives. "It would be our job," Mr. Williams said, "to pick men who would go along with the recommendations in the survey. What the board chosen by the people would do would be entirely out of our hands."

Mr. Smith also asked what would happen if suburban residents currently in the Pleasant school district voted, in annexation proceedings by the City of Marion, to go into the city.

Mr. Mills observed that if the county had a good school setup to offer it would be highly doubtful if the state board would sanction such a transfer. Added Mr. Williams: "If we had a good program in the county, it is questionable, I think, that people now outside Marion city limits would want to go into the city."

—:—

MR. LAWRENCE asked that if the plan were placed on the ballot this fall would it not be some time before anything concrete other than the actual establishment of the district could be accomplished? "It will indeed take some time," Mr. Williams answered, but added: "We don't want to drag this thing out too long, however."

Mr. Lawrence noted that Pleasant is going to be faced with a serious space shortage "in about two years" and added that the costs of another building program would "be considerable."

Along this line, Mr. Eichhorn said that it was evident to him that two new high schools could be built for less than it would take if each of the 10 districts underwent another building program on their own. Mr. Mills reiterated that almost without exception every district will have to build "in the not too distant future," unless, referring to the survey, "other provisions are made."

Mr. Lawrence asked whether or not the one-district plan was the original notion of the county board or whether it was chosen in preference to plans calling for smaller consolidations within the county Mr. Williams answered that "this is the only plan we ever heard anything about from the OSU bureau although they did consider other possibilities."

Mr. Halley observed that the proposed plan was obviously made in an attempt to "hold the entire county together." "Maybe that is not too practical," he said, adding: "I can think of several other possibilities." He did not elaborate on this point.

MR. EICHHORN declared that he was glad the county board was pushing for adoption of the one-district plan. "This may not be the best in some respects," he said, "but, in general, it seems good." He wondered if the other two counties in Ohio (Morgan and Fayette) which have adopted a one-district program had been operating smoothly. Mr. Mills said that since Morgan adopted its plan only last year, and Fayette shortly before, "they have not had too much time to set a precedent."

Mr. Eichhorn observed that, according to the survey, Pleasant had a school system "to be rather proud of." "But," he said, "we know we cannot rest on our laurels." He suggested that "if we're going to consolidate at all, it will accomplish no good end to consolidate 'small'."

Mr. Haldeman said that in his opinion the people of the county should be given to understand that acceptance of one district would also mean acceptance of the balance of the survey's recommendations. Mr. Halley added that "if we should pass the single district proposal and then have to wonder how to accomplish the rest of the program we might find ourselves in a sad fix."

Mr. Smith asked whether or not it would be possible for the county board to choose the new board prior to voting on the one district measure. John H. Mills said that in his opnion this could not be done.

"We have spent $3,000 on this survey," he offered, adding: "The people should be convinced of the merits of the proposals in the survey before they ever agree to a single district. To have one without the other would be a tragic mistake."

—:—

MR. CORNETT observed that with some districts in the county facing the loss of considerable state foundation money "it is obvious that something must be done. We can either sit idly by and let the state board dictate to us, or we can do as this plan suggests. It is a good one, if it is followed through."

Emphasized Mr. Lawrence: "This survey, in my opinion, is a service to the community. The county board is to be congratulated for bringing it to us."

Added Mr. Eichhorn: "I think the whole program is flexible enough to take care of this county's school needs for a good long time. It has several distinct advantages, not the least of which is that we'll keep our smaller children at home and send our older ones to bigger and better schools where they will have access to considerable educational advantages."

Concluded Mr. Williams: "We think this is a good program. We are bringing it to you in that light. If you think so, sell it to your people. If the job can be done elsewhere in the county we will put the issue on the ballot. The county schools have to make some move. We think this is the one with the most potential."

Fair, Clear Conditions Predicted for Saturday

The mercury climbed to a high of only 23 Thursday, then sank to an overnight low of 8 above, as winter continued to hold Marion County in its frosty grasp.

A trace of snow fell during the night, and the weatherman noted the probability of more flurries today. However, skies were expected to clear by nightfall, with a forecast of fair conditions for Saturday.

At noon today, under a clear sky, the temperature stood at 15, with a day's high of 24 anticipated. The low tonight is expected to be 7, with 26 the probable high for Saturday.

Shovel Talks Continue

Bargaining committees of the Marion Power Shovel Co. and striking Local 1949, United Steel Workers, which met at 10 a.m. Thursday to resume talks on their dispute, recessed in late afternoon without a settlement. Both groups met again at 9:30 today.

Martel

well as the 13 others, do not meet requirement for size outlined by the state board.

High schools, according to state standards, must have an enrollment of 240 students in order to be operated under permanent charter. There are 60 students in the upper four grades at Martel, and 90 at Whetstone.

Mr. Zwayer said this morning that a representative of the Marion County board is slated to meet with state board representatives to ask that the charter not be revoked while current consolidation plans are being discussed.

If the state office refuses to comply with the request, Martel high school pupils will, according to Mr. Zwayer, be sent on a tuition basis "to a school probably out of the county." Iberia, in Morrow County, is the school in closest proximity to Martel.

Mr. Zwayer said that it was the opinion of both himself and the Martel Board of Education that "we would like to continue to operate our high school until we see what is going to happen with regard to consolidation here."

The Crawford County spokesman said there is little likelihood that conditions which prompted the issuance of the temporary charter to Whetstone will get better "in the immediate future."

If the Whetstone charter is revoked, the 90 high school children there will probably go to nearby North Robinson, which operates in conjunction with the Jefferson school district.

In that event, the electorate of the three districts will vote on consolidating the three districts at the next general election, with long range plans calling for a new high school at the present site of the North Robinson building.

Jaycees Welcome Member, See Film

A new member, Al Dangintis, was welcomed at the Junior Chamber of Commerce meeting Thursday night. For the program Kelly Shelton showed a film on the March of Dimes and explained the purposes and use of the fund.

Announcement was made that Jaycees will hold a white elephant auction sale on Saturday, Jan. 31, open to the public, for the benefit of the March of Dimes.

Dr. Daniel Murphy extended an invitation to members to attend the Monday noon meeting of the Lions Club to hear Charles H. Keating, chairman of the Ohio and Cincinnati Citizens for Decent Literature Committees, speak on methods of ridding newstands of objectionable literature.

Plaques Awarded At Y-Men Meeting

Merit plaques were awarded to past presidents, Robert Higdon, William Hoover and Jack Bray Jr., at the Thursday night meeting of the Y-Men Club held at the YMCA.

A new member, Frank Bellville was welcomed. A donation to the Marion County Tuberculosis and Health Association was approved. Dr. Daniel Murphy extended an invitation to the members to attend the noon meeting of the Lions Club at Hotel Harding Monday. Guest speaker will be Charles H. Keating, chairman of the Ohio and Cincinnati Citizens for Decent Literature Committees.

Police Reports

Keith Retterer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L. Retterer of 414 Forest St., was bitten by a dog while playing in the school yard at Vernon School at 12:30 p.m. Thursday; school officials reported to police. The bite was on the boy's right ankle, according to the police report. The same dog reportedly had bitten children in the school playground before, police said.

Bare-Boned Greek Drama

The cold, clear purity of motivation in the Greek drama always enchants me if for no other reason than that it is such a corrective to the muddy neurotics in our own drama.

JOHN CROSBY

Clytemnestra killed Agamemnon because he had killed their daughter. And Orestes killed his mother because she killed his father. And in both cases they were ordered to by the gods.

It makes everything so simple and so direct. In boiling down Aeschylus' last and finest work, the trilogy, "Oresteia," to an hour, I think maybe "Omnibus" was going a little far in the line of direct simplicity.

The production last Sunday really stripped the celebrated trilogy down to its bare bones. In a trice, Agamemnon was in and out of Troy—a little matter of 10 years' condensed to a minute or so—and ready for his wife's blade.

MUCH OF IT was just reduced to a chanting of the plot line while actors postured silently on the screen, striking attitudes of farewell, of grief, of passion.

As Alistair Cooke points out, much of this 2,400-year-old work strikes us as "barbarous and alien." A father killing his daughter in exchange for a good wind for his ships seems a bit thick, but passion and vengeance and pride are as old as mankind and fresh as today.

Christopher Plummer played Orestes, ringing like a song. Even by Greek standards, it's a steely part and Plummer is one of the few actors who can stand up to it.

Irene Worth was flown in from England to play Clytemnestra, the vengeful mother, one of the great parts of all-Greek drama. I must say she did it well, keeping those passionate lines under tremendous control.

I'm happy "Omnibus" does Greek drama at all, but I must protest against compressing a trilogy into less than an hour. It's unsatisfying dramatically.

The fall of Troy, regicide, matricide—they deserve a little more time than that. The only scene that really came across was that of Agamemnon's return to his fierce wife, and even that seemed stripped bare.

If any Greeks are prowling through our libraries 2,400 years from now, they are going to find us a little "barbarous and alien," too. I can just hear some latter-day Alistair Cooke explaining to his television audience that all Americans of this particularly barbarous generation were either cowboys or cops of one sort or another.

THE LATEST law enforcer to be enshrined in celluloid is "The D.A.'s Man," which is based on a book about the adventures of Harold Danforth who was one of Thomas E. Dewey's undercover operatives when he was district attorney.

This one has got a lot of "Dragnet" and "Medic" blood in it. The script is by James Moser, original writer of "Dragnet" and "Medic" and Jack Webb directed the first couple of them.

In the first episode, the undercover operative, played by a good-looking, deadpan actor named John Compton, gets pressed into service as an undercover man in the heavy rackets such as labor and extortion, just in time to try to protect a couple of witnesses.

The operative is told not to carry credentials or a gun; he meets his contact only at a dummy store front; and it's all very cloak and dagger, though reasonably authentic.

The outside bits are shot in New York, and that gives it an air of authority I rather like.

-:-

THE FIRST episode, I thought, got quite exciting in spots—but then it ended much too abruptly for my taste. The scripts are written in that laconic, unemphatic style made famous by "Dragnet."

"Bitsy Colin's in town," says a voice over the telephone to the operative. "See what you can do."

"Big target," comments the operative of New York City.

And like that.

Are there any kind of cops left whose exploits are not committed to a television series?

BLONDE DYNAMITE. Edward Byrnes doesn't know he's flirting with a package of trouble when he sidles up to Sharon Walton in this scene from "Not an Enemy in the World," an episode in the "77 Sunset Strip" series on WTVN TV, Channel 6, tonight at 9.

Bare Facts Win Case

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bare facts won a divorce for 40-year-old Mrs. Nadine Morris. She testified her husband, Mitchell Morris, 45, wanted her to become a nudist, and that his fellow nudists walked around "like Adam and Eve" when they came to dinner. "I didn't like that sort of thing," she said.

Teacher Comes to Aid of Girl Attacked by Dog in Columbus

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The 19 children in Miss Barbara Drugan's Kindergarten class were romping in the school playground when the big dog suddenly sprang and went for the throat of a 5-year-old.

The animal dragged the girl to the ground and began chewing at her face.

What would you do?

"The only thing I did was the best thing I could do," said Miss Drugan—"I froze stiff.

"Then I regained a little bit of composure and pulled and pulled and pulled Suzanne away from the dog."

Little Suzanne Zeigler, who could only lay there, unresisting, as the animal tore at her face and neck, could have been hurt a lot more seriously except for Miss Drugan's actions.

As it was, Suzanne required nine stitches. The dog missed the child's jugular vein by about an eighth of an inch, Miss Drugan said.

It was near lunchtime Thursday when the dog, Keeno, a Norwegian Elk Hound about three years old, appeared in the playground outside Bexley Cassingham School in suburban Bexley. He growled at the children when they approached him.

Then, without warning, the animal raced into the group. There were some 30 children on the playground at the time.

"The dog was mad as far as I could see," said Miss Drugan, a teacher for 12 years.

"He was terribly strong," she went on. "He was up and down and around her (Suzanne) and I tried to pull her away from him. I pulled so hard I tore her dress.

After saving Suzanne, Miss Drugan, who says she's "over 25," told the other children to climb on top of playground equipment, out of the dog's reach. Then she took Susan into the building.

Later, police charged the dog's owner with allowing a vicious dog to run loose.

"I'm not afraid of dogs," said the heroic schoolmarm. Then, after a pause: "I didn't used to be—but I am now, I'm sorry to say."

Records Vital for Tax Filing, Director Says

Good financial records for last year are essential in the preparation of an accurate 1958 federal income tax return, District Director Nathaniel Looker said today.

He said complete records are particularly helpful to taxpayers who plan to itemize permissible deductions and who may have a basis on which to obtain a refund.

"We have always urged taxpayers to be sure to keep a complete and detailed record of expenditures for contributions, medical expenses, interest payments, deductible taxes an other items which may be deducted," he said.

Automation To Take Over

New Industrial World Dawns With Space Age

.. By VICTOR RIESEL

If I may scramble a metaphor, never take another crack at the egg heads, for to their yokes are tied the wheels of this nation's prosperous destiny. These thinkers, some of them sitting in special "thinking factories," are developing electronic equipment which, in turn, will make 10 million new jobs.

VICTOR RIESEL

The thinking business — known to the longhairs as basic research — is one of our major industries — doing a nine billion dollar a year volume. In one western research institution recently surveyed by RCA there are 8,000 men and women whose job it is to produce nothing but ideas for experimentation.

They have produced. Somwhere among them is a report which says:

"So fantastic are the potentialities of new control devices that it is possible to visualize acres of factory of office space in which no worker is needed.

"Automated equipment can process raw materials, assemble them into finished goods, package them and load them into freight cars without direct human help. (This includes bread baking for example.) That is not all.

"THE AUTOMATED machine can adjust to variable productive conditions by itself, correct its own mistakes, inspect the finished product and even change its own parts when parts break down or wear out. Automated machines do not stop with telling other machines what to do, they even breed new automated equipment . . ."

Certainly such machines will wipe out jobs — about a million of them. But AFL-CIO experts have said recently that "from two to five trained technicians will be needed for every engineer in an automated factory. This will mean 10 million new types of jobs."

Typical is a new job classification at the Buffalo stamping plant of one of the major auto companies — the job is "automation equipment maker and maintenance man."

And as labor's leaders see 1959 rush at them, they see a new industrial world. The tactics, the appeals, the knowledge, the skills, the very basis of the AFL-CIO organizers under their chief, Jack Livingston, sooner or later will have to be revamped.

-:-

FOR TWO DAYS early this week the nation's labor chiefs discussed these problems among others on the agenda of the first national organizing conference of the merged AFL-CIO, now going into its fourth year.

Presidents, secretary-treasurers and organizational directors of all affiliated unions were notified in mid-December to come and meet the organizing staff and their new problems, face to face.

Certainly they discussed organizing pushes in the oil, chemical, Southern textile, paper, and state, county and municipal workers fields. But on the agenda, too, were the new atomic industries, engineering and the now all-important white collar millions who have never been near unioisn.

The labor chiefs had before them a report from their national organizing chief, Jack Livingston, which told that the new world was more than a-coming. It is here. Livingston wrote:

"FOR THE FIRST time in history white collar workers outnumber manual workers. . . . . The combination of white collar workers and service workers (waiters, bell hops etc.) represent now more than half the total work force. By 1975, it is estimated that non-manual, non-farm workers will account for nearly 60 per cent of our working population."

Livingston then points out that the AFL-CIO has mighty few white collar unionists. So he warned, "This fact . . . points up the absolute necessity for organized labor to make greater inroads into the white collar field."

An example of this is the case of a Republic Steel plant which had been producing its own oxygen for certain operations. A chemical company developed the "Zee" unit. It worked auomatically. The men who had formerly produced the oxygen, members of the chemical union, were laid off. Company personnel had merely to look in on the "Zee" from time to time.

Thus the latter technical group in a thousand plants everywhere will be the object of unionization drives in 1959 — the gateway year to the era of star travel.

Leaves $605,000

CHARDON, Ohio (AP) — A. Glenn Rorabeck of Newbury Twp. who died Nov. 14, left an estate of $605,500, according to an appraisal filed Thursday in Geauga County Probate Court. He was chairman of the board of the George Worthington Co. of Cleveland, a wholesale hardware firm.

Former Columbus Radio-TV Commentator Is Found Dead

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Edgar Scott Wood, a well-known former radio-television newscaster here and in Pittsburgh, was found Thursday lying dead at the bottom of a flight of stairs in a neighborhood that a coroner describes as "the jungle."

Dr. Robert A. Evans, coroner, said Wood may have fractured his skull in a fall from the second floor stairway in a roomg house. And although the death of the 40-year-old Army technical writer appeared to be accidental, the coroner said, investigation will continue because of "several factors that have come to my attention."

He did not elaborate.

Dr. Evans said Wood apparently fell when a heel of his shoe caught on one of the steps.

Homicide detectives said his overcoat and watch were missing. It could not be learned if Wood had obtained his $200 paycheck Wednesday or whether he had cashed it. Only some change was found in his pocket.

Police could not say what he was doing in the rooming house. Wood's wife, Marjorie, told newsmen that her husband wasn't too familiar with the city, having come here from Pittsburgh in 1956, and apparently got lost.

Wood, who until six months ago was a newscaster on television stations WTVN-TV and WLW-C here, was known to have been out drinking with some companions the night before. The friends told police they left him, thinking he was about to take a bus to downtown Columbus.

Wood, who lived with his wife, Marjorie, and three children in suburban Upper Arlington, formerly worked for radio station WCAE in Pittsburgh and had done free lance news work for WDTV and KDKA there. He also had taught radio, drama and speech at three universities. At the time of his death he was employed at the Columbus General (Army) depot.

Ohio Senators Disclaim Any Hard Feelings

Not Feuding, Press Is Emphatically Told by Both Lausche, Young

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio's two Democratic senators, Frank J. Lausche and Stephen M. Young, say there's no bad feeling between them—and no feud.

"Frank Lausche and I were out together at a social gathering last night," Young remarked Thursday. "We shook hands. He and I are both public servants of Ohio, and it would be harmful to our state if there were any bad feelings."

Lausche commented he was glad to hear that, and added:

"I have never in my life carried a feud. I have never harbored ill will towards anyone, regardless of what might have happened. I have tried with all my might all my life to forget differences."

Reporters asked them their views toward each other after Young refused to walk down the congressional aisle with Lausche, in accordance with custom, for Young's swearing - in ceremony. Young said then that he didn't need any help from Lausche now because Lausche didn't support him in the election campaign last fall.

But as for their official relations, Young said Thursday:

"You may depend on it: When any matter comes up in Congress relating to our state—some project or other—I'll not hesitate one minute to walk to Sen. Lausche's office or see him on the floor. I never had any intention of this thing developing into a feud."

Prospect Weakened for Tilt Against Green Camp

Pleasant After 12th In Caledonia Game

It's basketball again tonight in Marion County, with all 10 teams slated for action.

Green Camp will be at Prospect, Pleasant tangles with Caledonia on the Scots' court, Ridgedale journeys to LaRue, Claridon invades the New Bloomington stronghold, while Martel ambles down Waldo way.

The two highlight games of the Marion County League card are the Pleasant - Caledonia and Prospect-Green Camp struggles.

THE PANDAS of Coach Stan Kirby and the Bulldogs of Fred McCumber are currently leading the loop with identical 4-0 league records. However, in tonight's action, Pleasant will be after win No. 12, while Prospect will strive to etch victory No. 11 on its scorebook.

Both quintets face their most formidable opponents to date in league play.

Prospect, although a big favorite to whip Green Camp, may find the Panthers of Coach Dale Kinsell keyed up to a fine degree. The Bulldogs will go into the action minus two starters and without the services of the sixth man on the varsity.

Dave Lauer, 6-2 forward who underwent an emergency appendectomy Christmas Eve, will be out of uniform. And, Howard Mosher, 6-3 forward averaging 16 points per game, gave the Prospect crew its best height, suffered a fractured foot in the Fredericktown game Tuesday night and is out for the season. Jack Fetter will miss tonight's game because of an attack of flu.

In short, Green Camp will be playing a team the potential of which has been drastically cut because of personnel losses.

AS FOR THE Pandas, Coach Kirby's boys, who were scared badly by Claridon a week ago before pulling a one-point, 64-63, victory out of the fire, will go against dangerous Caledonia.

Joe Green's cagers are currently deadlocked in third place in loop standings with a 2-2 record but they can be counted on to rise to the occasion before a home crowd in an attempt to knock the Kirbymen off their pedestal.

As for the balance of the league, Ridgedale, coasting along with a 3-1 mark in loop play, should have little trouble prevailing over LaRue. Coach Bill Phillips' lads will be tangling with an Indian quintet that is experiencing a drought on the reservation. To date, Ed Roseberry's tribe is winless in four league outings, having lost to Martel, New Bloomington, Prospect and Caledonia.

Ridgedale has met defeat only at the hands of Prospect, and then by a rather respectable 68-53 score.

New Bloomington, on the basis of its 2-2 record, should have the horses necessary to clip 1-3 Claridon. Jim Coffman's Rams have managed victories over LaRue and Waldo.

CLARIDON, ON the other hand, while losing three of four games, is capable of an uprising the like of which almost throttled Pleasant last Friday. Significantly, two of the Hornets' three losses have come at the hands of Pleasant and Prospect, the league's present "chosen ones."

Martel should, if all goes well, record win No. 2 at the expense of Waldo. Paul Zwayer's Eagles have a 1-3 loop mark, having a victory over LaRue and defeats at the hands of Caledonia, Pleasant and Prospect to show for their four outings to date.

James Stahl's Waldo Cardinals have gone down to defeat before Pleasant, Ridgedale, New Bloomington and Green Camp.

Taft Triumphs 35-22 Against Edison Cagers

Taft Junior High School defeated Edison 35-22 Thursday night in a game played at the winners' floor.

Coach Bob Beidler's winners jumped into an early lead and led 12-2 after the first quarter. They had hiked their margin to 17-11 at the halftime break and moved into the final period with a 25-17 bulge.

Harold Thompson led the winning offense with 10 points while Frank LaSeta netted 9. Keith McFann was high for the losers with 9.

It was the fourth win against three setbacks for Taft. The winners will meet Baker next Thursday.

The reserve contest was won by Taft 22-15. T. J. Sampson popped in 10 points to lead the winners while Showers netted 7 for Edison. The Taft reserves led 3-2 after the first period and blanked the losers in the second stanza.

Prexy Cage Team Duels Elyria Here

Both Harding and Marion Catholic basketballers will be in action tonight, with the Prexies of Don Knodel playing host to Elyria in a Buckeye Conference match, and the Irish of Ray Robbins journeying to Crestline for a non-loop go with the Bulldogs.

Of the two games, the Harding-Elyria one figures to inspire the greater interest. Coach Dale Reichenbach will be bringing a crew of Pioneers to town that is undefeated to date this season. They will lock horns with a Harding unit that has won 5 and dropped 3 games, 2 of them to conference foes.

Marion Catholic will lay a lackluster 0-7 record on the line before a Crestline five that has been only a shade better, having compiled a 2-7 showing.

Share Fourth Place

The Presidents, currently tied for fourth place in loop standing with Findlay, are, for all practical purposes, out of title contention already. The aim of Knodel now is to get a team together that will insure the Prexies a creditable won-lost record at season's end.

Harding has not, in Knodel's opinion, been playing up to par of late and as a result three sophomores are to start tonight's game while their elders ride herd on the bench.

Dave Grumblatt, Paul Cressor and Dan Wendell will take the floor in the pivot and guard posts respectively, with Bob Middleton and Mike Chamberlain at the forwards.

"We may not go all the way in that fashion," Knodel observed, "but maybe we can shake some of these boys out of their lethargy."

The Pioneers will start a quintet averaging over 6-feet, a quintet, in Knodel's opinion, that "makes few mistakes and hustles all the time."

Just what the secret of success in the Irish camp will have to be tonight is anybody's guess. Robbins notes that he will continue to alternate all hands on his varisty squad as he seeks to find five boys that can get the Catholic crew into the win column for the first time this year.

Lacks Speed, Height

Crestline lacks both speed and height, but its scoring potential has accounted for an average of 60 points per game. However, defensive letdowns have enabled opponents to rim Bulldog buckets for some 72 markers per contest and thereby lies the story of the 2-7 record compiled thus far by John Hughes' cagers. The Irish have been good for about 44 points per contest, while allowing their opponents an average of 64.

Neither the Prexies nor Irish will be able to rest on whatever laurels they earn tonight. For Harding travels to Worthington Saturday night, while Marion Catholic plays host to a visiting Columbus Aquinas team.

Worthington is currently sporting a 6-2 overall record, while Elwood Petchel's Aquinas Terriers, playing in the rugged Columbus City League, have a 2-3 mark overall and a 2-1 loop showing.

Signs With Lions

DETROIT (AP) — Nick Pietrosante, Notre Dame fullback, has signed a two-year contract with the Detroit Lions, the Associated Press learned today.

A reliable source said the bruising fullback will receive $28,000 over two years, the figure counting both salaries and bonuses. This is one of the highest prices ever paid a rookie by the Detroit club.

FEELING FIT AS A FIDDLE. Gil Hodges, Los Angeles Dodgers' first sacker, evidences a "fit as a fiddle" feeling as he lunches in Brooklyn's Lutheran Hospital. Hodges, who makes his home in the former Dodger stronghold, recently underwent minor surgery. Apparently happy with Gil's progress is Joan, his wife, shown helping Hodges while away the hours here. Baker Records 48-31 Decision Over Prospect Eber Baker Junior High School clipped Prospect's junior high school cage squad 48-31 Thursday at the losers' floor.

The Marion team moved out front 9-7 in the first quarter and held a 19-13 edge at the half. The winners built up a 37-23 command after three quarters.

Jon Wilson with 16 points led the winning attack while Dick Merchant finished with 10. High for the Prospect team was Long with 10 markers.

The Baker reserve team dropped a 26-21 decision in the preliminary contest. The little Bulldogs jumped out front 12-3 in the first quarter and Baker was unable to score a field goal in the second, trailing 22-4 at the half. Prospect was blanked in the third quarter but managed to withstand Baker's fourth quarter threats. Allen Rowley led the Baker reserves with seven points while Merchant had 14 for the winners.

Michigan's Gary Prahst Signs Pact With Browns

CLEVELAND (AP) — Gary Prahst of Michigan, fourth-round draft choice of the Cleveland Browns, has signed a contract with the professional football club.

Like Dick Schafrath, another rookie whose signing was announced by the Browns Thursday, Prahst played in last Saturday's Senior Bowl game.

Coach Paul Brown, who coached the south team to a 21-12 victory in that contest, said he "didn't get a chance to see too much of either boy at the Senior Bowl, but I liked what I did see."

Jimmy Brown Hopes To Lead East to Upset

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jimmy Brown is a fullback with a mission in Sunday's ninth annual Pro Bowl football game.

The explosive Cleveland Brown fullback who leads the charge of the East's brigade would like nothing better than to erase his poor showing in last year's game.

Brown, who set a National Football League rushing record of 1,527 yards last season, was held to a stingy 38 yards in 15 carries in the last skirmish of the NFL's inter-league feud.

This year Brown will be in a backfield directed by Norm Van Brocklin, who came to the Philadelphia Eagles last season from the Los Angeles Rams.

Rounding out the East's backfield are Frank Gifford and Alex Webster of the New York Giants.

The East goes into the game a 6½ point underdog.

The West has won five of the eight games, including the past two. The East has won three.

County Grange League Basketball Play Opens

The Marion County Grange League basketball race will open Saturday night with two games scheduled at the New Bloomington floor.

Salt Rock will meet United in the opening contest at 7:15 with Montgomery tackling Whetstone in the nightcap. League sessions also are scheduled Jan. 17 and 24 with the county tournament slated on Jan. 31 and Feb. 7. Winner of the Marion County tournament will advance to the state action at Otterbein College on March 21 and 22 and April 3 and 4. Whetstone is the defending county champion.

Close Contests Mark College Action in Ohio

By The Associated Press

It was a night of runaway scores in Ohio college cage action Thursday night.

The nearest thing to a close game came in the Case Tech-Oberlin clash at Oberlin when Case emerged a nine-point victor, 72-63. It was the sixth straight win for the Cleveland quintet.

Not nearly so close were the games between Heidelberg and Otterbein, Morris Harvey of West Virginia and Marietta, and Wooster and Hiram.

At Westerville, Heidelberg gained its first Ohio Conference win with an 80-65 romp over Otterbein.

At Charleston, host Morris Harvey broke a 24-24 tie with a 20-point scoring surge and went on to an easy 102-82 win over Marietta.

The biggest margin of victory went to Wooster's Scots, who buried Hiram's Terriers 90-64. Wooster now has a 7-1 record to Hiram's 1-3.

Veeck Renews Bid To Buy White Sox

CHICAGO (AP) — Bill Veeck returns to Chicago today after a visit in Cleveland, keeping reports hot that he will buy control of the Chicago White Sox.

Veeck has an option, valid until Feb. 15, to buy the 54 per cent of Sox stock controlled by Mrs. Dorothy Comiskey Rigney.

Vice President Chuck Comiskey owns the other shares and Veeck has been trying to buy them, too. Chuck steadfastly has refused to sell.

The 32-year-old grandson of the club's founder wants to gain control himself and has made his sister a counter offer.

Crackdown Promised

NCAA Strengthens Enforcement Plans

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—NCAA member schools today received a sharp double-edged mandate from their 18-man ruling body.

The powerful NCAA Council, in moves to strengthen its enforcement program and tighten its principle of amateurism, warned, in effect:

Crackdown Planned

1. Crackdown on staff members involved in serious violations of the athletic code, even to the point of firing them, if necessary.

2. Steer clear of any financial deals, direct or indirect, which would enable baseball teams or other pro sports organizations to provide athletic scholarships.

These points were emphasized in the Council's report, released Thursday. The report was read today to delegates attending the business session, climax of the week - long activities centered around the 53rd annual convention of the National Collegiate Athletic Assn.

There are two points, however, that were considered likely to cause some wrangling.

Seeks Full Authority

First would give the three-man eligibility committee complete authority to rule upon the eligibility of any athlete for intercollegiate athletics. At present, this power is held only by the Council.

The other proposed amendment that could cause a fuss dealt with recruiting. It would prohibit institutions from providing preparatory education to prospective athletes, but would make specific exemptions for the service academies because of their stiff entrance requirements.

Record 44-34 Win

North Carolina Cagers Whip Wake Forest Stall

By The Associated Press

What was shrugged off as a year of rebuilding looks as if it could turn out to be a good deal more for Frank McGuire and his North Carolina Tar Heels.

The Tar Heels, still well fed by McGuire's talent pipeline from the North, bagged their ninth victory in 10 starts against grade A opposition Thursday night with a 44-34 defeat of Wake Forest.

Wake Forest tried a slowdown Thursday night, holding the ball four minutes at the start of the game, attempting only seven shots in the first half and generally using possession to try to match North Carolina's superior height.

Tied for League Lead

The Tar Heels, tying rival North Carolina State's 4-0 record in the Atlantic Coast Conference, shook loose for a 17-11 halftime advantage and stayed comfortably ahead the rest of the way in their first experience with the slowdown.

The Tar Heels, third-ranked nationally, and 11th-pegged West Virginia were the only rated teams in action in the slim Thursday program.

West Virginia, with Jerry West whipping in eight of his 32 points in overtime, downed Penn State 89-81. It was the Mounties' 11th victory in 14 starts.

St. Bonaventure, one of the nation's four major unbeaten teams, kept its record intact despite sloppy play by defeating Iona (NY) 68-54 in the opener of a doubleheader at New York's Madison Square Garden.

Seton Hall won the other part of the doubleheader, nipping Muhlenberg 57-55.

Wins Senior Bowl Title

Centenary bagged the 63rd and last title of the holiday tournament avalanche, spilling Spring Hill 71-57 in the Senior Bowl final at Mobile. Murray (Ky) took consolation honors, 74-71 over Tennessee Tech.

Eastern Tennessee downed Morehead (Ky) 85-76 in an Ohio Valley Conference test. Miami (Fla) handed touring Toronto University a 97-55 defeat, and Wofford beat winless Erskine, 67-58.

Seventeen of sophomore Bill Smith's 23 points were free throws as St. Peter's (NJ) walloped St. Francis (NY) 71-48. New Mexico State's Border Conference team handed Wyoming of the Skyline group its eighth loss in 11 games, 75-59.

'Y' Swimmers Bow in Meet With Fremont

Marion YMCA swimmers threw a real scare into an unbeaten Fremont Ross tank squad before running out of manpower to fall 52-34 Thursday in the Little Giant pool. The Fremont team had only a four-point advantage before the final two relays after Marion tankers had taken five firsts in the eight individual events.

The host team jumped off to an 8-1 lead in the first event when Marion's Bruce Kohler was awarded a third place in a blanket finish with two Ross swimmers. Alan McKee and Dan Thompson won the butterfly and 200 yard freestyle as Marion's only entries in those events then Ed Cooper just missed the Fremont pool mark with a good 1:04 century backstroke race to edge Fremont ace Talbot. Ken Tillman, a local freshman, was edged in a close battle for third place. Kohler came back to place second in the century freestyle while Scott Pickerel and John Wettergreen battled Huffman of Fremont in the breaststroke with all three only seconds apart as the locals finished second and third respectively.

Bob Finney broke the ice again with a victory in the diving while freshman Mike Bartley missed third by just two points.

Highlight of the meet was Ed Cooper's pool record breaking duel with Talbot of Fremont in the 150 yard individual medley which broke the old record by Canton McKinley swimmer Van Horn, now a star at Ohio State. Cooper's time was 1:39.9 for a new team record also. Dan Thompson finished a strong third for Marion's final points.

Coach Warren Foster said it was the team's top performance of the early season.

Saturday the girl's team will travel to the Lima YWCA for a league match while the midget, prep, and junior squads will host a powerful Columbus "Y" squad, winners of two age groups in the recent Marion relays.

MCI Cagers Race To 67-46 Decision

The Marion Correctional Institution's cage squad resumed its winning ways Thursday night, bumping Gulliford Hardware of Green Camp by a 67-46 count.

Coach Bill Coder's Hornets managed only an 11-9 edge in the first quarter and were out front 29-25 at the halftime break. The winners raced into a 12-point bulge in the third stanza to carry a 46-34 margin into the last frame. The Hornets, gaining control of the boards during the last half, employed a fast-breaking offense to break open the game.

Yazum topped the MCI scoring with 19 points with Byrd netting 18 and Kellom 15. Flach was the big gun for the losers with 10.

The Hornets will play host to the rugged Alpha Grill team of Columbus Saturday at 2 p.m. The game shapes up as one of MCI's toughest tests of the season. Playing for the Alpha squad will be such stars as Frank Howard, Ken Sidle, Jim Laughlin, Gene Millard, Jim Hartley and Ray Apple, former Ohio State cage performers, and Mike Outcalt and Paul Snyder, former Capital University players.

'Y' Wrestlers In Road Meet

The Huntington, Ind., YMCA wrestling team will present the Marion YMCA mat team with a tremendous challenge Saturday, when the locals go on the road for their second dual meet outing of the current season.

Never before in the history of Marion wrestling has a team defeated the local squad twice in a row, and Huntington has the edge with a 27-24 victory over Marion in a pre-season scrimmage.

Huntington will be a slight favorite going into this contest with Marion weakened due to the loss of four of its regular starters. Jim Jones, undefeated grappler and state champion, will be sidelined due to a severe cold, while Buster Vande Water, Martin Kaufman and Dale Kibbey out of action because of the use of college weights rather than high school weights for this particular encounter. Both Kibbey and Kaufman have been undefeated thus far in the season.

For this outing Marion will go with the following boys. Joel Lenavitt will start at 123, Bill Thatcher, co-captain, will get the nod at 130, and Harry Spring will do the chores at 137. Veteran Bud Kelley will wrestle at 147, while John Keller will go at 157, and Jerry Gibson will replace Jim Jones at 167. Co-captain Clyde Thomas will start for Marion at 177, and Pete Wolfinger will work at the unlimited level.

The locals' next home meet will be against highly rated North Canton High School on the Marion mat Saturday, Jan. 17.

Olmedo Expected To Seek Net Title

PERTH (AP) — Alex Olmedo again had a series of heat treatments today for the strained stomach muscle which forced him out of the West Australian Tennis Championships.

His physician said the sore spot was much relaxed. He indicated that with several days rest and further treatment the United States Davis Cup star from Peru would be in good shape for the Australian national championships beginning Thursday in Adelaide.

Olmedo defaulted to Andres Gimeno of Spain in the singles semi-finals.

Last Night's Fights

Boise, Idaho — Glenn Burgess, 146, Boise, outpointed Dick Goldstein, 150, Seattle, 12.

Los Angeles — Boots Monroe, 118, Compton, Calif., outpointed Joe Medel, 115, Mexico City, 10.

Rome, Italy — Italo Scortichini, 162, Italy, stopped Franco Sciscaini, 158½, Italy, 8.

Eells Reports Growing Atomic Activity in Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Atomic activity in Ohio is mushrooming much like the cloud that has become symbolic where the atom is concerned, says William H. Eells, the state's first full-time coordinator.

Eells, who expects to leave the office of Coordinator of Atomic Development Activities when the new Democratic administration takes over, made his office's first annual report to outgoing Gov. C. William O'Neill today.

Among other things, the report said:

The Atomic Energy Commission has spent about 900 million dollars in Ohio on plants and equipment, and more than 300 million on contracts and grants.

Some 353 AEC licenses were in effect as of Oct. 1, in 42 counties and 61 communities. These include 122 companies, 52 hospitals, 35 doctors, 11 colleges and universities, 26 out-of-state firms (for use in Ohio) and others.

The state is seventh in use of radioisotopes in medicine, research and industry.

Ohio is the largest producer of atomic gauging and measuring devices in the nation. The equipment saved Ohio industry an estimated 15 million dollars in 1958.

The first nuclear-propelled aircraft engine is being developed in Ohio.

The first conference of State Atomic Development Coordinators or their equivalents was held in Columbus last October.

State departments such as Commerce, Education, Health, Highway Safety, Insurance, Adjutant General's Office and Industrial and Utilities Commissions are attempting to relate the atom to their functions.

Ohio's surface waters are being monitored monthly by the State Health Department for radioactivity.

The Ohio Civil Defense Corps has trained radiological teams specializing in radiation detection.

The State Fire Marshal's office and the AEC are training local fire personnel in radiological firefighting.

Five research reactors are in operation, three test or research reactors are being built, and two research reactors and a power reactor are planned.
